India told to pay ₹10K cr damages to Cairn Energy

The arbitration tribunal said the govt breached treaty obligations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

BARELY three months after Vodafone Plc won an international arbitration against India's ₹22,100 has crore retrospective tax demand, the country on Wednesday suffered another blow arising from the controversial 2012 amendment to its tax laws.

This time, a three-member arbitration tribunal under the Permanent Court of Arbitration, The Hague, has directed India to pay UK-based energy giant Cairn $1.2 billion in damages, along with interest and legal costs. The final amount India would have to pay if it doesn't challenge the award is likely to be $1.4 billion (over ₹10,300 crore), say sources.

"The tribunal ruled unanimously that India had breached its obligations to Cairn under the UK-India Bilateral Investment Treaty," the company said in a statement on Wednesday.

Image source: Twitter

The Government of India, for its part, said that it "will be studying the award and all its aspects carefully in consultation with its counsels".

After the UPA-led government lost its case against Vodafone Plc at the Supreme Court in 2012, then finance minister Pranad Mukherjee passed an amendment in law making the tax liability retrospective.

In March 2015, Cairn was slapped with ₹10,247 crore retrospective tax demand over gains from an internal reorganisation implemented in 2006-07. But unlike the Vodafone Plc case, where no overt action was taken by both the UPA and the subsequent NDA governments, Cairn's holdings were seized and then subsequently sold to realise the tax liability.

By 2011, Cairn Energy Plc had already sold its India subsidiary, Cairn India, to Vedanta Ltd, retaining only a 5% stake. But after the tax demand and subsequent initiation of arbitration by the company in 2015, GoI seized the stake and sold it to realise the claim.

It also seized dividends totalling ₹1,140 crore due to Cairn and set off a ₹1,590-crore tax refund against the demand.

90 DAYS TO FILE APPEAL

Govt has 90 days to mount an appeal against the order, say sources. In the case of Vodafone, this runs out on December 24 and no appeal has been filed yet. For Cairn, if it doesn't challenge the award, the cash outflow is set to be over ₹10,300 crore

After flip-flop, night curfew from today in K'taka till Jan 2

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after denying that night curfew will be imposed in Karnataka, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday did a U-turn and announced its imposition from December 24, 2020 to January 2, 2021. The curfew will be in force between 11 pm and 5 am. However, Christmas midnight mass will be permitted, although guidelines on crowds restrictions and Covid-19 safety norms will have to be followed, the CM tweeted.

The decision to impose the night curfew was taken on the advice of the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) as a precautionary measure amid concerns over the new Covid-19 strain spreading from the UK, which is believed to be 70 per cent more infectious. Karnataka is the second state after Maharashtra to announce night curfew.

Earlier in the day, CM had announced that night curfew will be imposed from Wednesday night itself and that it will be from 10 pm to 6 am on January 2. This was later changed after representatives of commercial establishments appealed to the CM to extend the timings. Federation of Karnataka Chamber of Commerce & Industry (FKCCI) president Perikal M Sundar appealed to the CM that shutting down at 10 pm will cause losses to businesses, and urged him to enforce the curfew from 11 pm instead.

"This (night curfew) has been imposed to prevent and contain the spread of the coronavirus strain found in the UK, and we are also monitoring international passengers arriving in the state," Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said, while adding that there will be no ban on inter-state travel. P3

Pruned Class 10 syllabus by Jan 6: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE truncated syllabus for Class 10 will be announced by January 6, and the time-table for both Classes 10 and 12 board examinations will also be announced by then, Primary and Secondary Education Minister has said.

In an exclusive interaction with The New Indian Express on Wednesday, he said although Class 12 syllabus has been cut by 30 per cent on the lines of the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT), for the SSLC syllabus, it will take a few days to work out precisely how much and what to cut without hurting sentiments or affecting the future prospects of students.

For now, the department has decided against having exams in March-April. We need to give the children reasonable time to learn and go through the syllabus and be confident. We cannot play with their lives

S Suresh Kumar, Primary and Secondary Education Minister

Explaining why it will take so many days to finalise the trimmed syllabus, he said they were trying to achieve two objectives — that minimum necessary learning for Class 10 students should not be affected and students should not feel the loss when they enter PUC; and two, unnecessary subjects should be avoided. "This is possible in most subjects, because we have spiral learning where we learn the same subject in Classes 8, 9 and 10. This is avoidable, but there is a catch – sentiments will be hurt and it becomes a touchy subject as to why the content was dropped," he said.

The minister said the shrunk Class 10 syllabus will retain the essentials required to be learnt while also ensuring that repetitive content from previous two years are cut.

The department was in a sticky situation after the last attempt in cutting down the syllabus as they were criticized for hurting the sentiments of some sections while deleting certain chapters. The minister assured that this year, the syllabus cut will be foolproof, controversy-free and will allow students to have reasonably sufficient syllabus as well as time to prepare.

Although classes will start on January 1, students will have just four classes per day and there will not be sufficient time. P2

Negotiation ball back in Centre's court as farmers seek concrete ideas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Chandigarh

THE weeks-long deadlock over the new farm laws continued on Wednesday with farmer unions demanding that the Union government offer concrete proposals, abandon its stubbornness and accept their demands to end their agitation. Both sides have now indicated they are ready for talks without budging on their core agenda.

After a meeting of their umbrella body, the Sanyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM), farmer leaders said they were ready for talks but are waiting for the Centre to come to the table with an open mind. In a letter addressed to Vivek Aggarwal, Joint Secretary in the Union Agriculture Ministry, they said there was no clarity on various sticking points like guaranteeing the minimum support price mechanism, electricity amendment (ordinance) and ordinance on air quality.

The Centre is already on record as saying it is ready to discuss and address all concerns of the agitating farmers. And Prime Minister Narendra Modi will continue his outreach by interacting with farmers from six states on Friday. The day will also see nine crore farmers receiving ₹18,000 crore in their bank accounts through direct transfer as part of PM Kisan Samman Nidhi Yojana.

"We urge the government not to repeat the meaningless amendments we have already rejected but come up with a concrete proposal in writing so that the process of negotiation can be started as soon as possible," Swaraj Abhiyan chief Yogendra Yadav said. He is a member of the SKM.

Committed to reforms

Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said the government will continue with reforms in the farm sector. "However old and strong the protest is, a solution can be arrived at only through talks," he said

"The government is constantly holding talks with so-called farmer leaders and organisations who are not associated with our movement. This is an attempt to break our movement. It is dealing with protesting farmers, the way it deals with the Opposition," Yadav added.

Rashtriya Kisan Mazdoor Mahasangh president Shiv Kumar Kakka said: "The government should abandon its stubbornness and create conducive environment for talks with protesting farmers and accept their demands. We have already told Union Home Minister Amit Shah that protesting farmers will not accept amendments."

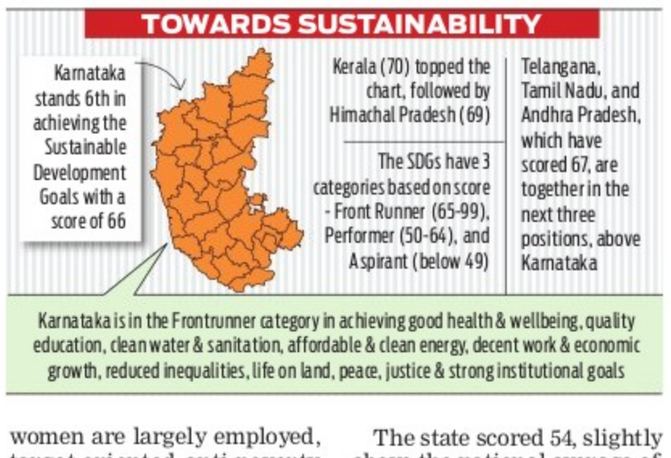
All India Kisan Sabha leader Hannan Mollah alleged that the government wants to delay this resolution of the agitation and break the morale of the farmers. P9

Karnataka ranked sixth in UN sustainable development goals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA has been ranked sixth in the country in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) set by the United Nations Organisation. However, it has scored low in achieving better results as regards goals such as poverty alleviation, zero hunger, gender equality and sustainable cities and communities.

The report, 'Sustainable Development Goals-Vision 2030 — Strategies and Action Plan for Karnataka', was released by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday. It says the state achieved 52 on a scale of 100 for 'Poverty' — below the national average of 54. "Increasing the coverage of social protection at a faster rate to reach the target of 100% by 2030, coverage of construction and the informal sector where women are largely employed, target-oriented anti-poverty package of schemes and programmes, cent percent coverage of all Below Poverty Line holders, redesigning and repackaging Self Help Group (SHG) programmes through convergence, skilling and marketing initiatives are the way forward," the report stated.



TOWARDS SUSTAINABILITY
Karnataka stands 6th in achieving the Sustainable Development Goals with a score of 66
Kerala (70) topped the chart, followed by Himachal Pradesh (69)
The SDGs have 3 categories based on score - Front Runner (65-99), Performer (50-64), and Aspirant (below 49)
Telangana, Tamil Nadu, and Andhra Pradesh, which have scored 67, are together in the next three positions, above Karnataka
Karnataka is in the Frontrunner category in achieving good health & wellbeing, quality education, clean water & sanitation, affordable & clean energy, decent work & economic growth, reduced inequalities, life on land, peace, justice & strong institutional goals

The state scored 54, slightly above the national average of 48, in the 'Zero Hunger' goal. The report recommended ensuring nutrition security and addressing low productivity in agriculture. In 'Gender Equality', Karnataka scored 43 against the national average of 36.

100% FDI in DTH sector, 20-yr licence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet on Wednesday cleared the Information and Broadcasting Ministry's revised guidelines allowing 100% FDI in direct-to-home (DTH) sector and doubling licence validity to 20 years. Earlier, I&B ministry allowed only 49% foreign direct investment in the sector.

Among the other changes is licence fee will be collected on a quarterly basis instead of annually, to make it in tune with the licence fee regime of the telecom sector.

Also, DTH operators will be permitted to operate a maximum of 5% of their total channel carrying capacity as platform channels.

"In India, more than six crore houses get DTH services. The commerce ministry had earlier decided 100% FDI in DTH services but the services could not get that benefit as Information and Broadcasting Ministry's guidelines allowed only 49% FDI. The new guidelines will be in sync with the Commerce ministry's guidelines," Union minister Prakash Javadekar said.

Welcoming the new guidelines, leading DTH player Tata Sky said the decision to grant licences to the operators for 20 years will provide certainty to the industry. P9

Full declaration of ingredients not cosmetic, made mandatory

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

IT has now become mandatory for manufacturers of cosmetics and make-up products in India to declare all ingredients, even those with concentration of less than 1%, to help buyers make more informed choices.

Thus far, there was no Central law mandating them to declare the full composition of their skin and make-up products — though there is such a rule for drugs — and licences were granted without getting detailed information.

In order to ensure greater quality control of cosmetic products being manufactured, imported and used in India, the government has also decided to set up the first Central Cosmetics Laboratory and appoint inspectors across states. Till now, there have been very few instances of crackdown on makers of spurious cosmetics.

Under the new cosmetics rules, 2020 notified by the Union ministry of health and family welfare recently following consultations with the drug technical advisory board, hair dyes containing paraphenylenediamine or other dyes, colours and pigments should be labelled with specified warnings. Special provisions have been introduced on fluoride content in toothpaste as well. It should not be more than 1000 ppm and the fluoride content shall be mentioned on the tube and carton.

According to the new norms, no cosmetic, the manufacture, sale or distribution of which is prohibited in the country of origin, can be imported. Also on the import ban list are cosmetics containing hexachlorophene — a chemical preservative known for harmful effects on humans.

Besides, cosmetics tested on animals cannot be imported. Also, inspectors will be required to inspect at least once in three years all premises licensed to manufacture cosmetics to ensure that the provisions of the Drugs and Cosmetic Act, 1940 and its rules are being fully met.

School reopening: All hands on deck

Tests mandatory for teachers; students who fall sick to be taken to isolation room

PEARL MARIA DSOUZA
@Bengaluru

WITH Classes 10 and 12 to resume offline lessons from January 1, interdepartmental coordination for the reopening is under way.

Terming the SSLC exams a "trailer", Minister for Primary and Secondary Edcuation Suresh Kumar told TNIE that the bigger picture that is to emerge is reopening of schools amid a pandemic. He convened a meeting with ZP CEOs, Deputy Directors of Public Instruction and Block Education Officers on Wednesday, to discuss preparations. SOPs have been conveyed to taluk officers and will be communicated to the cluster level in three or four days, he said.

DDPIs and DDPUs have been asked to meet managements of private schools and colleges to guide them on safe conduct of classes. Confidence-building measures will be undertaken for students and parents. Schools have been allowed to use their School Development and Monitoring Committee funds for purchase of thermal scanners and hygiene equipment.

Other departments will chip in for other expenses. For instance, the panchayat will ensure cleanliness of toilets, and Scouts and Guides have volunteered to help schools implement SOPs in their precincts. Philanthropists are also stepping up to provide sanitation equipment, Kumar said.

While government high schools have sufficient toilets for boys and girls, those that don't are having toilets built under the RDPR's Parihaar scheme. Hostels run by the social welfare department are also getting ready to open while the transport department is preparing passes for students.

No Covid duty for teachers

After the CEO of Bengaluru Rural Zilla Panchayat raised the issue of teachers on Covid duty, the BBMP Commissioner and Commissioner for Public Instruction have been asked to relieve all SSLC and Vidyagama teachers of pandemic duty, Kumar said. All teachers must get a Covid-negative report 72 hours before they join school.

Test not must for students

Kumar said a Covid test will not be mandatory for around 16 lakh Class 10 and 12. Students who develop symptoms will be sent to an isolation room before being taken to hospital.

Exams not in March-April: Minister

"WE are just calculating (the syllabus to be reduced)" he said, and explained that in a regular year, Class 10 students would have 220 days of classes. "Even after yesterday's meeting (with education department officials), there's no clarity on how many days of classes we will get — 120 days or 125, or 130," Suresh Kumar said.

"For now, the department has decided against having exams in March-April. We need to give the children reasonable time to learn and go through the syllabus and be confident. We cannot play with their lives," he said.

UPSC may adopt state's SSLC SOP: Minister

Bengaluru: The SSLC exam held amid the pandemic is being considered as Karnataka's beacon for others to follow. Minister Suresh Kumar said Azim Premji University has been asked to study how the exam was conducted. There was not a single Covid-19 case due to the examination, the minister claimed. The model is gaining popularity, he said, adding that the UPSC went through the SOP and has decided to use it for its own exams. Both the Karnataka HC and the apex court, Kumar said, appreciated the SOP for the SSLC exam.

High-speed internet for govt schools soon

Bengaluru: High-speed internet will come to government schools, with the help of BharathNet, Minister Suresh Kumar said. The project will be rolled out across the state over a year. He said the adopt-a-school initiative to equip government schools with technology is gaining steam, and the IT sector is also being roped in. The government is looking at reaching nearly 5 lakh SSLC students. He said midday meals will not be provided as the Centre has not permitted it, but it will be discussed with the Technical Advisory Committee.

Allottees queue up in front of BDA office on Wednesday | EXPRESS

After long wait, long queue for site holders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE recent announcement by Bangalore Development Authority, calling for objections to be filed with respect to specific survey numbers of Dr K Shivaram Karanth Layout, has got the public queuing up since Monday (December 21) to submit documents as proof of property ownership as well as construction done.

Property owners have time till December-end to file their objections against demolition or acquisition of their properties.

The Supreme Court had on December 3 stated that legally constructed properties would not be demolished, and set up a three-member committee to identify such properties.

A senior BDA official said the public was invited to send in objections. "Anywhere between 200 and 300 people are visiting the office every day in this connection. Documents are being collected from 10am to 5.30pm and we are sending them to the committee assessing them," said BDA Public Relations Officer L Girisha. Postal objections too were received.

Asked about the virus risk to the public standing in such close quarters, BDA Commissioner H R Mahadev said that more staff would be put on duty for this purpose from Thursday. "The process cannot be done online as hard copies of numerous documents are required," he said.

R Venkat Rao, an electrical parts trader, was among those in the queue. "I have been living with my family since 2003 in the house we built in Kasaghattapura in Hesarghatta hobli. Where will we go now if they demolish my property," he asked. Anand Kumar, an ex-Air Force official was filing his objections too. "Since 2006, I have been living in our house built on a 1200 sqft site near MS Palya, bought for Rs 4 lakh then. I am here to submit proof of ownership with numerous documents," he said.

Tree parks compulsory in new pvt layouts

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Development Authority has decided to make it mandatory for all future approved layouts to create Tree parks in their Civic Amenity (CA) sites. The move, expected to boost the green cover in the city, is likely to be implemented from next week.

BDA Secretary Vasanthi Amar told TNIE the move could make a big difference to the city as there are over 600 BDA approved layouts. "If all future layouts mandatorily have a good number of trees, it would definitely have a marked improvement on the environment," she said.

The BDA hands over the site areas and its approval for the building plans of private layouts in three stages – first 40%, then 30% and finally another 30%. "It would be made mandatory for saplings to be planted during the first stage. The trees would grow before the next portion of land is released. If there is clear proof that the layout has enough trees, the remaining land be allotted for development of sites. This process would be followed by both BDA and BBMP," she added.

BDA Chairman S R Vishwanath said the decision would be implemented both in Bengaluru Rural and Bengaluru Urban. "The lawns in CA sites are quite expensive to maintain. Thousands of trees instead would be eco-friendly. This is in line with the CM's vision of making the City Hasiru Bengaluru' (green) by 2022," he said.

Commissioner H R Mahadev said, "The BDA Board gave its approval for the move last week. As soon as the proceedings of the Board are signed by the Chairman, we would implement it with immediate effect."

Asked about the need for parks, he said, "Let the public have parks in their layouts. But there should be a enough big trees."

Govt sits on pile of fertile silt, invites citizens to take it away for free

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE government is sitting on piles of highly fertile silt and with nowhere to put it, has invited citizens to take how much they need.

Removed from Varthur Lake, the silt is highly fertile. With few options on disposing it, Bangalore Development Authority decided last week to permit individuals and farmers to take any quantity they want, at no charge. It issued an order inviting applications for silt on Monday and appointed a nodal officer to oversee the process. So far, around eight farmers from areas such as Attibele and SArjapura on the outskirts of the city have made inquiries.

"Basic assessment has shown that 12 lakh cubic metres of silt is to be disposed. Applicants will have to give a written application for the quantity they want and the purpose it is required for. The National Green Tribunal (NGT) monitoring committee will scrutinise the applications and decide who will be given silt. We also have to ensure that there is no commercial sale by the people who procure it," the official added.

"Even though IISc has checked the silt quality from Bellandur and Varthur lakes, we will wait for a report from the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board before we start the exercise of handing over silt to people," a BDA official said.

The BDA is also contemplating contacting other departments such as horticulture, agriculture and even Hopcoms, who are in direct touch with farmers to procure the silt as it is rich in nutrients. Many citizens and resident welfare groups living around Varthur lake or those who are working on its revival are also looking for people who are in need of silt for gardening and farming. Citizens are also contacting roof-top gardening associations and nurseries who can use the silt.

PETER VIDAL

24th December : To return to one of my favourite themes, I was stretching my mind recently by reading about the theory of parallel universes. According to some cosmologists a new universe is formed every time we choose between two options - there's one universe for each alternative. Personally, I find it hard to believe, but no harder than some other weird ideas!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)

Domestic plans do still seem to be occupying more of your time than perhaps they should, but with passionate relationships formed by Venus and Pluto, your response could be one of impatience and irritation! Perhaps it's time the air was cleared.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)

If you don't make a point of being optimistic today, nobody else will. Given that this is one of those days when partners and relatives may be giving vent to negative feelings, it's up to you to show them something more positive. Go on - do your best!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)

Mars is the planet to watch, especially as it's an indication of an impending burst of celestial energy. Do yourself a very big favour now and get on with practical tasks rather than being seduced into emotional cul-de-sacs by people who should know better.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)

You have a fair degree of control over most of what happens today so, if you wish, you can remain above the fray. Besides, you've had your share of anguish in the past. Keep an exceptionally close eye on your finances, by the way, or someone will be tempted to take advantage.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)

Your stars really are quite extraordinarily powerful, but you should realise that your emotional strength needs to be exercised with care and restraint. Follow a hunch by all means, but don't jump to conclusions. And don't be too hard on partners who don't come up to scratch.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

Something secret seems to be bugging you today. It may be an event that happened a long time ago, perhaps which may concern an old love. If you feel the urge to get in touch and renew an old contact, or revisit past haunts, go ahead. You deserve a break.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)

Your professional stars are strong, but not so strong that success is inevitable. You'll have to do your share of bowing and scraping! Socially, partners will be eating out of your hand, but you will have to be quite exceptionally wise and mature in your responses.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

You should tread very carefully at work and understand that the so-called facts are quite irrelevant. What is very much more important is what people, especially employers, believe to be the case. Give authority figures a wide berth - especially if they're unlikely to see reason!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)

There could be doubts over an ethical or moral matter, and it's the spirit, rather than the letter, of the law, which should be most important. Changes in travel plans could be caused by gradually evolving romantic hopes, and you can only gain from going on a charm offensive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)

Social costs could be high, and you can, if you wish, duck out of one particular commitment. Also, something that was lost, perhaps long ago, maybe a prized possession, possibly a relationship, may soon be recovered. There'll be time enough for celebration later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

You may be holding the thin line of decent and responsible behaviour against people who can see nothing beyond the gratification of their immediate feelings. You may compromise over details, but not principles. What's more, you may set a fine example to others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)

Foreign contacts, legal questions and educational schemes all play a part in your current thinking. The main theme that binds together everything you do is work, self-improvement and shared interests. That sounds like a great recipe for some healthy co-operation.

UK RETURNEES IN K'TAKA WILL BE MONITORED FOR 28 DAYS AT HOME

2,500 passengers arrived in Karnataka between Nov 25, Dec 25, says Sudhakar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UK returnees who came to Karnataka between November 25 and December 25 will be under home isolation for 28 days and first 14 days the Health Department will monitor them, while the last 14 days they have to check themselves for Covid symptoms, said Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar after a meeting with the Technical Advisory Committee on Wednesday.

During the period, two flights, carrying 2,500 passengers, arrived in Karnataka from the UK. "Details of passengers are available and every single passenger will be kept under strict vigilance. RT-PCR tests will be done if they are symptomatic. If they are positive, the test samples will be sent for genomic sequencing to NIMHANS, IISc or NCBS to determine if the strain of the virus is the new one found in the UK," he said.

The statement of a political leader that 14,000 people had arrived from the UK is completely baseless. "There is no need for the government to hide data. Politicians should get their facts right before they speak," he said.

Many people who arrived from the UK are spread across the state and testing and tracing of contacts is underway in districts.

Five such passengers in Tumakuru district have tested negative. Four of them in Tumakuru town and one in Tiptur are in home isolation, said DHO Dr Nagendrappa.

Mysuru has 137 people who returned from the UK between December 1 and 21. As many as 119 came between December 1 and 20. Eighteen, who arrived on December 21, have tested negative, while others are being traced to find out whether they underwent tests, said Deputy Commissioner Rohini Sindhuri. A separate counter will be set up at Town Hall on Thursday for UK returnees and their contacts to get tested.

In Hassan, of the 18 who arrived, all but 6 have been traced, and they have been advised home isolation. Their samples have been sent for testing, said DHO Dr Satish.

A woman and her young daughter who returned to Bidar on Tuesday are in home isolation. Eight people identified as primary contacts have tested negative, while the results of 10 secondary contacts, sent to Bidar Institute of Medical Sciences, are awaited, said DC Ramchandran R.

Eight people who came to the district from Britain, Canada and other countries have tested negative. But they have been asked to quarantine for 14 days. Two each are from Udupi and Brahmavar, three from Karkala, and one from Byndoor. One of the returnees is pregnant.

Twelve such passengers are in Uttara Kannada and are in home quarantine, district officials said. They have tested negative. The district administration in Dharwad tracked and quarantined five people, who tested negative, officials said. Eleven people underwent tests in Chitradurga district, DC Kavitha S Mannikeri said. All of them have tested negative on RAT, but RT-PCR results are awaited. Seven people and their contacts in Davanagere district are being monitored by health authorities. All of them have tested negative, said DC Mahantesh Bilagi.

All seven people in Kalaburagi have undergone tests, said DHO Dr Rajashekar Male. Two of them have since moved to Bidar. The remaining five will be in quarantine for a fortnight and their results are awaited.

SOPS FOR PASSENGERS AT AIRPORTS, SEAPORTS

Passengers coming from the UK to Karnataka's seaports and airports from December 21 to 23 will have to undergo an RT-PCR test on arrival even if they are carrying a negative test report. If a positive sample is found, a spike gene-based RT-PCR test should also be performed by an appropriate laboratory. Passengers testing positive will be isolated in an institutional isolation facility in a separate (isolation) unit coordinated by the respective district health authorities and positives will not be allowed home isolation, irrespective of symptoms till genomic sequencing is completed, it stated.

Curfew could hit hospitality biz

SURPRISINGLY, not many senior bureaucrats knew about the CM's decision. Many of them came to know of it through the media, said highly placed sources. Yediyurappa was not keen on imposing restrictions, but gave in to the advice of Sudhakar and health officials, who stressed on public restrictions for Christmas and New Year's Eve to contain the new variant or a second wave of Covid-19, sources said.

The Chief Minister has appealed to the public to cooperate with the night curfew. He had earlier appealed that New Year revelries be restricted and public celebrations banned.

Regarding international travellers, the CM said those landing in Karnataka must carry Covid-negative certificates, which should have 72 hours validity. This apart, the government has also made arrangements for testing outside Kempegowda International Airport in Bengaluru.

However, the sudden imposition of night curfew comes as a blow for the doddering hospitality and allied service sectors, which were pinning their hopes on Christmas and New Year's Eve after taking a serious beating last year. For pubs and bars, the last 10 days of the year are peak season.

This year, they have been hard pressed to keep their business going with 50 per cent occupancy. "We have to pay the second and final instalment of the excise licence before December 31. It is a big amount. We were hoping to get more business on Christmas and New Year," said the owner of a prominent pub.

"Our business will definitely be hit. This is the prime season when people step out for dinner with family and friends. With curfew starting at 11pm, we will have to close our premises by 10pm. It means that our last order will be taken around 9.30pm," said Amit Roy of Watsons. He is also on the managing committee of the National Restaurants Association of India.

Roy added that he's had to cancel 40 reservations in his chain of pubs in Bengaluru. "We have pre-booked and paid for our food deliveries for the bookings," he added.

SOPs TO BE FOLLOWED

- Crowds to be avoided at places of religious worship
- Physical distancing to be maintained at religious, commercial places
- No parties, gatherings at clubs, pubs, bars, restaurants or other public places between Dec 30 and Jan 2
- Parties and dances prohibited between Dec 30 and Jan 2
- No New Year celebrations on roads and public places
- All gatherings, special events prohibited
- Gatherings banned on Church Street, Brigade Road, MG Road, Koramangala, Indiranagar, and other places
- Bursting of green crackers allowed

Shutdown between 11pm, 6am

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ALTHOUGH a state-wide night curfew will be in effect between 11pm and 6 am from December 24 to January 2 on account of the new Covid virus strain, midnight mass will be permitted on Christmas Eve with Covid precautions in place.

The government has said that Police Commissioners, Superintendents of Police, Deputy Commissioners, the BBMP Commissioner and heads of all government departments must monitor the night curfew and ensure that it is strictly implemented. The movement of people - except for essential services - will be strictly prohibited between 11pm and 6am (5am on January 2). All factories, companies and other organisations which function during the night will be permitted to operate with half their staff. Employees of such organisations will be permitted to commute on producing a valid ID card issued by their respective organisations.

Movement of vehicles carrying goods, including those which are empty, will not be restricted. Long distance travel services including buses, trains, and flights will function as usual. Autorickshaws and cabs can travel to and fro between bus depots, train stations, and airports, provided passengers give valid journey tickets.

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

REGIONAL disparity plagues Karnataka in its efforts to realise the Sustainable Development Goals 2030. Out of a score of 100 on the Sustainable Development Goals Index, Karnataka has scored 52 with respect to the goal of no poverty by 2030, lesser than India's average of 54 and far lesser than Tamil Nadu, which has scored 76.

"Though Karnataka's achievement is 52 in terms of overall performance, regional disparity across the state is so high that many of the northern Karnataka districts' performance is very poor and at par with BIMARU states. Though the HPCRRI (High Powered Committee for Redressal of Regional Imbalance) report emphasises on the redressal of regional imbalances through a Special Development Plan, the performance still doesn't seem to be encouraging and the state average is pulled down due to these extreme variations in the State," read an excerpt of the report – "SDG 2030 goals - strategies and action plan for Karnataka", released by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday.

An analysis of the Multi-dimensional Poverty Index (MPI) finds that the worst performing districts are Yadagir (23.3), Raichur (17.7), Kalaburagi (14.2), Koppal (13.7), Vijayapura (13.5), Gadag and Ballari (13.1). The MPI is calculated based on indicators of education, health and living standards.

Though the state has managed to provide employment through MGNREGA to 59 per cent of poor households, the inequality across districts has remained, the report finds.

The report, published by the Department of Planning, Programme Monitoring and Statistics, recommends that the proportion of total government spending on essential services (education, health and social protection) must be 12.5 per cent of GSDP (Gross State Domestic Product) by 2022 and 2030.

"Growth per se is not sufficient enough to take care of poverty. Literature in this regard indicates that trickle-down effect is not sufficient enough to uplift the people from acute poverty. Thus, emphasis on target-oriented, comprehensive anti-poverty programme becomes pertinent and monitoring any progress should be at district level and, if possible, still at lower levels," the report recommended,

In the second SDF goal of 'Zero hunger-end hunger, achieve food security, improved nutrition and promote sustainable agriculture', Karnataka scored 54, which is slightly better than the national average of 48, but still far lesser than states like Goa and Delhi which have scored 80 and 72, respectively.

Once again, on the Hunger Index, the most-affected districts are in North Karnataka, except for Chitradurga and Davanagere. The districts categorised as alarming include Raichur, Kalaburagi, Yadgir, Koppal, Gadag, Ballari and Bagalkot, while those categorised as serious include Chitradurga, Dharwad, Vijayapura, Belagavi, Bidar, Davanagere and Haveri.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa releases the 'SDG 2030 goals - strategies and action plan for Karnataka' on Wednesday. State Planning Board vice-president B J Puttaswamy, Chief Secretary T M Vijay Bhaskar and Additional Chief Secretary Dr Shalini Rajneesh were present | EXPRESS

Report bats for women's safety

THE report recommended adopting preventive strategies to eliminate violence by changing the mindset and psychology of men, increasing women's police stations, increasing women police force (33% representation), effective implementation of prevention of domestic violence Act, effective legal mechanism for increasing the conviction rate and implementation of new technologies like fixing of CCTV cameras at sensitive places to increase the rating.

The state scored 48, again above the national average of 39, in achieving the goal of 'Sustainable Cities and Communities'. A special focus on PMAY house construction, slum development and waste management in urban areas, innovative housing scheme, forming housing cooperative societies with slum-dwellers as stakeholders, promoting green housing strategies and focus on public transport and prevention of natural disasters were some of the recommendations made in the report.

Cong says BSY has no right to remain CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A DAY after the Karnataka High Court dismissed Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa's petition seeking to quash criminal proceedings pending against him under the Prevention of Corruption Act, Congress members demanded Yediyurappa's resignation.

On Tuesday, the court dismissed his petition pertaining to a case involving denotification of several acres of land acquired for an IT project in the Varthur-Whitefield IT corridor, alleged to be illegal, when Yediyurappa was Deputy Chief Minister in 2006-07.

AICC general secretary and Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala demanded the CM's resignation. "Does he (Yediyurappa) have any right to continue in office even for whiff of a second after such stinging indictment?" he tweeted, and sought a fair investigation and logical conclusion to the case. "CM Yediyurappa must quit without delay," he declared.

Surjewala also said this is a test for Prime Minister Narendra Modi who had promised, "Na khaunga, na khaane doonga" (I will neither take bribe, nor allow others to take bribe).

Congress spokesperson Abhishek Manu Singhvi, addressing the press in New Delhi, also demanded Yediyurappa's resignation. "Congress demands immediate resignation and removal of CM," he said.

It may be recalled that in 2015, Lokayukta police had taken up investigation into the case registered against Yediyurappa under the Prevention of Corruption Act, following an order passed by the Lokayukta Court. It was based on a private complaint filed by Vasudeva Reddy, a resident of Bellandur in Bengaluru.

Siddu's 'backstabbing' barb leaves many red-faced

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

OPPOSITION Leader Siddaramaiah's recent comment that a conspiracy within the party led to his defeat in the Chamundeshwari Assembly constituency two years ago has widened the rift within the Congress and left many leaders red-faced.

His detractors alleged that Siddaramaiah too used similar tactics and defeated Congress leaders, including A H Vishwanath and Srinivasa Prasad, who were with Congress then. Vishwanath, who is a BJP MLC now, said that Siddaramaiah has backstabbed many including him and other frontrunners for the chief minister's post.

Though Siddaramaiah later issued a clarification saying that he was referring only to local leaders in the Chamundeshwari constituency, it has not gone down well with the rank and file of the party.

What was the need to rake up the issue two years later and in the run-up to the panchayat polls, asked a senior Congress leader. He said that the comment has left party workers demoralised and disturbed. Former MP and Congress leader R Dhruvanarayan said other parties are playing up Siddaramaiah's comments, but Congressmen are focussed and reaching out to voters highlighting failures of the government.

Political commentator Prof Muzafar Asadi said that Siddaramaiah's comment was meant to politically finish off his rivals locally. Such statements are counterproductive and Siddaramaiah with too many challenges like consolidating Ahinda votes should focus on bringing back Lingayats, Poojaris and other communities that have distanced from Congress.

Our leaders should have spoken more about Congress government's contributions to panchayats, increasing reservation for women and setting up drinking water units in villages, than about rivals within the party, Congressmen said.

State govt must clear confusion on reopening of schools, says DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Wednesday alleged that the government is creating confusion over reopening of schools and it should take a decision soon, keeping in mind the larger interest of students.

Shivakumar told reporters that it appears that the government itself doesn't have clarity on reopening of schools. "First, the government should have clarity on the issue, and only then it can clear the confusion. The government is playing with the future of children, and it is not good," he cautioned.

He further said that as the major opposition party, the Congress does not want to politicise the issue. "There are too many things involved, such as the future of our children, paying salaries to teachers, and running institutions. The government should consult experts and take a decision in the larger interest of teachers, students and their future," Shivakumar said, adding that as a parent and a person running an educational institute, he is looking forward to the decision of the government.

Cong to field candidates in Belagavi, Dharwad

Shivakumar said that the Congress had decided to field its candidates in the upcoming elections for Belagavi and Dharwad city corporations. "Over the last few years, the party used to support other candidates. But from this year, we will choose candidates and they will contest on the party symbol," he added.

AIMIM looks for toehold in Belagavi, to contest ULB poll

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Belagavi

THE All India Majlis-e-Ittehadul-Muslimeen (AIMIM), which has been contesting elections to state assembly and local bodies in different parts of the country, has decided to field its candidates in the Belagavi City Corporation elections.

Leaders of AIMIM from different parts of North Karnataka held a meeting in Belagavi on Wednesday on measures to build the party in the region. State general secretary Latif Khan Pathan said the party would face different elections in the coming days to build it from the grassroots.

He said the party would field its candidates, to be finalised by party chief Asaduddin Owaisi, in all wards of Belagavi in the city corporation elections. The party had taken up a tour of North Karnataka under the leadership of its leader Mohammad Salim, said Pathan. According to him, discussions and meetings were held by party leaders in Vijayapura, Kalaburagi, Ballari and Hubballi on having AIMIM candidates in the fray in the respective city corporation elections, he said.

He said able leaders would be fielded and attempts were being made to give a strong shape to the party in North Karnataka. Leaders from several parties and communities were joining AIMIM, and the party aims to win seats in the Belagavi City Corporation by taking along people of all communities and languages, Pathan said.

JDS NOT INEVITABLE FOR BJP, SAYS KATEEL

Mangaluru: BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel on Wednesday tried to put a lid on speculation over the bonhomie between BJP and JDS, saying the regional party is neither inevitable nor needed for the BJP. He termed the talk of a BJP-JDS merger as hypothetical. Asked whether JDS is making efforts to join the National Democratic Alliance (NDA), Kateel categorically said there is no need for it. He said that the Centre will celebrate the birth anniversary of former prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee on December 25 as 'Kisan Samman Diwas' across the country by apprising farmers about various schemes and programmes initiated by the NDA government.

Show-cause notice to Kalaburagi officials over wrong poll symbol

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI @Kalaburagi

Deputy Commissioner of Kalaburagi V V Jyothsna has issued show-cause notice to Kamalapur Tahsildar and the returning officer of the polling booth in Ward No. 1 of Kinni Sadak village for their alleged negligence in printing a wrong symbol in the ballot paper.

Speaking to TNIE on Wednesday, Jyothsna said that though the symbol of trumpet was allotted to the candidate, Jayaraj Halagi, the ballot paper had the symbol of a man playing bugle. Following Jayaraj's complaint, the polling was stopped in the booth.

Meanwhile, the State Election Commission has issued notification to hold a repoll in the ward with corrected symbols on Thursday (December 24) from 7am to 5pm.

In Raichur too, Deputy Commissioner R Venkateshkumar has issued show-cause notice to Sirwar Tahsildar and the returning officer of the polling booth of K Tuppadaur village (Ganadiini Gram Panchayat) for their alleged negligence in printing a wrong symbol in the ballot paper.

The candidate, Siddamma, was allotted the symbol of mud pot, but the ballot paper had the auto symbol. The polling, which started at 7am, was stopped within a few minutes after Siddamma brought the lapse to the officials' notice. After two hours, polling started again with the corrected ballot paper.

Venkateshkumar told TNIE that he had instructed the Deputy Director of Public Instruction (DDPI) of Raichur to issue show-cause notice to 78 school teachers and headmasters who were appointed polling and presiding officers for the GP elections.

Govt fixes new muhurtham—mass mariages twice every month

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

IT had been a knotty issue. And the state government had to rethink on its annual 'Sapthapadi', the mass marriage event, thanks to the pandemic.

Earlier, it was planned to conduct it twice a year. But keeping the crowds in mind, the government has decided to hold it twice every month, starting from January.

"We will look for two good auspicious days every month and announce it 15 days in advance so that people who desire to get married or parents who want their children to get married can apply," Endowment minister Kota Srinivas Poojar told The New Indian Express.

Picture for representative purpose

To begin with, the government has fixed the muhurtham on Jan 15, 20 and Feb 20 and 23. This, according to the minister, is to avoid crowds.

He said that only the parents of the bride and the groom will be allowed.

Initially, the government had announced that the mass marriages will be conducted on April 26 and May 24 this year at 100 state-owned temples across the state. But due to the pandemic it was postponed to June and July, only to be put off again to November/December.

The government had planned to conduct the mass marriage of at least 250 couples – this was before the pandemic broke out. Recently, only 23 couples got married under the scheme. This is because the government could not conduct the marriages as some couples who had registered got married in a private ceremony.

Under the Sapthapadi scheme, the bridegroom will get a shirt and dhoti and Rs 5,000 in cash, while the bride will get a saree, Rs 1,000 in cash and 8 gm of gold for the 'Mangalya'.

The minister said they plan to invite jewellers for purchase of gold.

HC relief for HDK, Parameshwar, DKS

Court sets aside second FIR against them for a protest held in front of the Income Tax Dept office

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

H D Kumaraswamy

D K Shivakumar

Dr G Parameshwar

IN a relief to former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy, former deputy chief minister Dr G Parameshwar and KPCC president D K Shivakumar, the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday set aside the second FIR registered against them based on a private complaint filed in relation to a protest held in front of the Income Tax Department in the city over alleged 'selective' raids.

Allowing three separate petitions filed by the trio, Justice John Michael Cunha set aside the FIR registered based on the private complaint filed by Mallikarjuna A, on the ground that second FIR is not maintainable since an FIR is already registered on the same incident.

On the protest held in April 2019, there was an FIR registered at the Commercial Street police station on a case filed by the BBMP flying squad against JD(S) and Congress leaders for holding a protest on March 28, 2019 for violation of model code of conduct, which was in force for the Lok Sabha elections.

However, the second FIR was registered based on an order passed by the trial court on June 15, 2019 in relation to a private complaint filed by Mallikarjuna alleging breach of trust, waging war against Central Government, sedition, unlawful assembly, undue influence of election, criminal force and assault.

Quashing this FIR, the judge reserved the liberty to the complainant to approach the investigation officer in the FIR registered before the Commercial Streetpolice station, who in turn treatMallikarjuna's complaint as a statement under Section 161 of CrPC.

Man kills minor wife, buries body in house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tumakuru

A sixteen-year-old girl who was forced into marriage was found murdered and buried in her house by her husband at Hosa Itakaloti village in Madhugiri taluk a couple of weeks ago.

The incident came to light on Wednesday following which Madhugiri Assistant Commissioner Somappa Kadakola, Tahsildar Vishwanath Gowda and DySP Praveen Kumar visited the spot and exhumed the body. As per the autopsy report, the victim had a severe head injury.

Accused Narasimhamurthy is absconding and his younger brothers Manjunatha and Sathish have been arrested by the police in Hubballi. The accused, a construction labourer, had married Gayathri (16), his niece – his older sister Lakshmidevi and Hanumantharayappa couple's daughter -- in April 2020 against the family's wishes. The teenager had cleared SSLC at the Government High School at Tondoti and was about to join I PUC.

The mother of the accused died some years ago and his father Narasimhaiah shifted to Bengaluru to engage himself in menial job ten years ago. The accused chose the girl to marry to care of the household chores and cook for him. Meanwhile, Narasimhamurthy also had an extramarital affair. He started harassing Gayathri over a property issue.

On December 7, the accused picked a quarrel with the victim and allegedly murdered her. In order to conceal the incident, he had dug a pit inside the house and buried the body. Later, he laid a granite slab on the floor. He, along with his aged grandmother and two younger brothers, lived in the house for 10 days after the incident. He later absconded.

The father of the victim lodged a missing person's complaint with the Midigeshi police a couple of weeks ago. Her older sister Shwetha grew suspicious and visited the house on Wednesday. She was shocked to know about the incident.

Child marriages during Covid-19

The incident has also thrown light on child marriages in remote villages that went unnoticed during the lockdown period. Even residents of the village had not alerted the police either due to lack of awareness or fear of the backlash. "The victim's mother Lakshmidevi, a visually-challenged, had died three years ago and stepmother Gangaratnamma is also her maternal aunt," informed child development programme officer (CDPO) Anitha.

CRIME PATROL

Crime Branch files case against online loan firms

BENGALURU: The Central Crime Branch (CCB) sleuths on Monday registered three cases against certain online loan apps, which illegally provided loans at exorbitant interest rates to people and later threatened them into repaying the same. "We had received several complaints from the public who were harassed by these private online loan apps," a senior police officer said. "Based on their complaints, three FIRs have been registered and the accused will be nabbed soon. We will reveal the names of those apps after the arrest soon," police said, advising those people who have faced similar issues to file complaints at the Cyber Crime police station.

Five conmen arrested for selling stolen vehicles

BENGALURU: Yeshwanthpur police arrested five conmen, who used to hire vehicles from a travel agency and allegedly sell them after changing the registration numbers. The accused are Arif Pasha (26), Koustubh (32), Syed Arman (23), Sulaiman Pasha (23) and Tousif (26). Police said Girish, a businessman, filed a case, stating Arif and Koustubh tried to sell him an SUV for Rs 5 lakh. The duo claimed to deal in used cars. Girish agreed to buy it and asked for the documents. The suspects took Rs 5,000 as advance and handed him photocopies of the documents. However, Girish found them to be fake and alerted police, who nabbed the gang, and seized 13 stolen two-wheelers.

RPF constable rescues woman attempting suicide

BENGALURU: A Railway Protection Force (RPF) constable rescued a woman who tried to commit suicide by lying down on the railway tracks in front of an approaching train, at Golahalli railway station recently. The constable, Amit Kumar, attached to the Yesvantpur railway station, was carrying out his picketing duty at the station on Monday when he saw the woman. "Kumar showed indomitable courage by pulling her out of harm's way," said a top RPF official. The woman said that she tried to take her own life due to domestic problems.

Clean road for a week for not registering FIR, cop told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a rare instance, the Kalaburagi bench of the Karnataka High Court has directed the Station House Officer (SHO) of Bazaar Police Station in Kalaburagi to clean the road in front of the police station for a week 'as community service' for failing to register an FIR in a missing person's case.

A division bench of Justices S Sunil Dutt Yadav and P Krishna Bhat passed the order on a habeas corpus petition filed by Tarabai (55) from Minajgi Tanda in Kalaburagi taluk. She had approached the High Court seeking directions to the Station Bazaar police to produce her son Suresh, who went missing on October 20. Suresh was produced before the court on November 3.

The court order, passed recently, notes that the SHO admitted that Tarabai approached him in the police station with a grievance that her son had been abducted. The officer should have registered an FIR and proceeded with the investigation. If the offence took place outside his jurisdiction, then he was obliged to transfer the FIR to the jurisdictional police station for further investigation, it said.

However, the SHO overlooked the mandate of law and had not made an entry in the station house diary nor had he registered an FIR, which resulted in obstructing the rights of the petitioner and her son. Pointing out this, the bench questioned the conduct of the SHO who was present in the court. On his behalf, the government advocate submitted that a lenient view may be taken for the violation of procedure. The officer is prepared to file undertaking to do some community service to atone for the lapse, he pleaded.

Accepting this, the bench directed him to clean the road in front of his police station for one week. "I hereby state that, as per the direction of the Hon'ble Court, I am ready to comply with the direction by cleaning the road in front of my police station for one week. I render my conditional apology for not registering the FIR and assure the Hon'ble Court that I will not repeat the same in future," the officer stated in his undertaking.

The Bench noted that the entire development in the case highlights a "very disturbing facet" of the functioning of the police stations. The problem, primarily, is one of police officers not complying with the procedure prescribed under the CrPC, which places a high premium on the guarantee of liberty of the individuals, the bench noted.

'GOD'S A WORD FROM SANSKRIT'

This is what economist and author Bibek Debroy said of the origin of the word 'God' while speaking at DakLF 2020. Here's how the entire session went down

God might be an English word but its roots can be traced back to Sanskrit, said Bibek Debroy, author of the recently released The Bhagavad Gita for Millennials. He is more popularly known as an economist and the Chairman of the PM's Economic Advisory Council but he is considered an authority when it comes to Sanskrit texts. He was in conversation with senior journalist and author Kaveree Bamzai at TNIE's DakLF 2020.

e-expressions DAKSHIN LITERARY FESTIVAL

"I am averse to using words that are imported and implanted from the West, including a word like God," said Debroy. "The word God, etymologically, is cognate with a Sanskrit root — Hutam, someone you offer oblations to. It's a tragedy and travesty that millennials do not know this. If at the time of the Rajasuya Yagna, the first arghya was offered to Krishna in the Mahabharata, then, in some sense, Krishna was the Hutam. But I would not like to use the word God," he added.

There is not one but many Gitas, said Debroy and added that there are more than 20 of them in the Mahabharata itself. "Gita is anything that is sung or chanted. Here there is an adjective, Bhagavad, which automatically suggests that there must be other Gitas as well. There are around 60 different Gitas depending on how you define a Gita. Some of them people are familiar with, like the Ashtavakra Gita," said Debroy. "There are texts like the Uddhava Gita which is from the Puranas. The two from the Mahabharata that people are probably most familiar with are the Dharma Vyadha Gita and the Anu Gita. There are things that are not directly referred to as Gitas but are very much on the same lines, for example, the Yaksha Prashna," he added.

Talking about whether COVID-19 has made people realise the importance of the Gita, Debroy said that the Bhagavad Gita has always been there but due to COVID-19, people have much more free time — they are not going to the multiplex and thus they have time to dip into the texts. "If you are interested in it you will find the time, COVID or no COVID," he added.

Debroy said that he wrote this book to get millennials to read the Bhagavad Gita in Sanskrit. "I wanted people to get sufficiently familiar to read the text of the Bhagavad Gita in Sankrit and then read translations and commentaries," he added. "My intention was to get the millennials interested in the Bhagavad Gita," he said.

'Cartoonists don't have to take sides'

I know only about the environment and wildlife, I do what I know best. It's not necessary for a cartoonist to take up every battle to fight, and so I have picked my own

Rohan Chakravarthy

I take pleasure in offending people in power. No matter what kind of people (or party) are in power, I will continue to do that

Rachita Taneja

SHOULD cartoonists have a slant when it comes to their satire? "I don't feel that cartoonists have to take any side. I believe that a cartoonist is never a leftist or a rightist but can be a sadist," said Rohan Chakravarthy, cartoonist and creator of Green Humour, a comic strip related to environment-related issues.

Rohan was speaking at the Dakshin Literary Festival 2020 which is being virtually conducted by the New Indian Express from December 21 to 24, 2020. He was in conversation with two other artists, Rachita Taneja, creator of Sanitary Panels on Instagram, and Ashvini Menon who is the founder and principal designer at Ashvini Menon Visual Design Studio along with the Chief Reporter of Edex, Daniel Thimmayya.

Ashvini Menon

Speaking about the kind of cartoons she draws, Rachita added, "Different cartoons offer different things, satire is the backbone of my cartoon. My work is very heavily reliant on satire, on making fun of those in power." People being the common denominator. That and a healthy dose of humour. Ashvini, whose latest strip World Piece is a witty take on life during the lockdown, added, "My focus is on people because the government of a country is a major reflection of the kind of society we are ready to live in. With my cartoons, I focus on people's behaviour and what happens around me."

Social media has brought in a larger audience for all three but they have all had to face a fair share of trolling. For Rachita, who was one of the earliest proponents of webcomics in India, social media helped gain a massive following, "One of the drawbacks, however, is the algorithm changes and thus the reach."

So where is your story set this time?

BOTH Aruna Nambiar and Priya Balasubramanian are writers who have delivered their strongly South Indian characters on a platter of beautiful, nostalgic words. On December 23, the authors came together at TNIE's DakLF 2020 to discuss the anatomy of a character. "Location is essential because it evokes a setting for the reader. The reader needs to be able to see what you are seeing in your mind's eye," says Aruna, the author of Mango Cheeks, Metal Teeth (2013) and The Monsters Still Lurk (2019). Priya concurs.

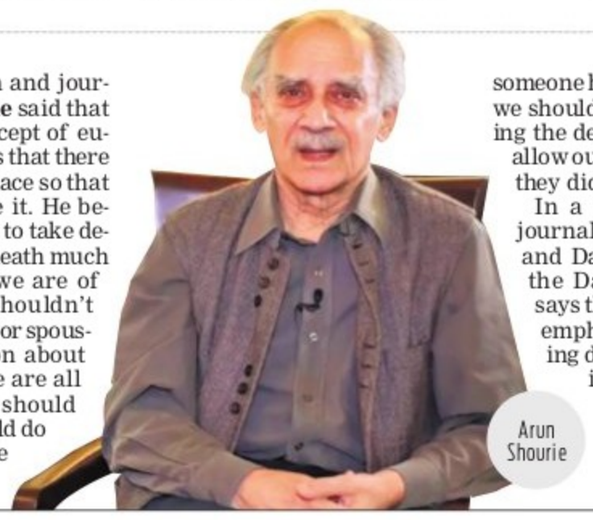
Although her novel, Alchemy of Secrets, has only been published in India, Priya insists that the American audience has always been drawn to Indian fiction. "We have followed on the heels of giants. I would say Indian writing is a familiar territories for those in the US. Alchemy of Secrets is a novel with multiple perspectives and this makes it more Indian," explains Priya who is a gastroenterologist and transplant hepatologist based out of Sacramento, California.

'Shouldn't burden our family with decisions about death'

WRITER, politician and journalist Arun Shourie said that he supports the concept of euthanasia but believes that there should be rules in place so that people don't misuse it. He believes it's important to take decisions about one's death much in advance, when we are of stable mind, "We shouldn't burden our relatives or spouses with the decision about our death. When we are all of sound mind, we should decide what we would do in a situation where someone has to decide whether we should live or die. By making the decision ourselves, we allow our relatives to feel like they did the right thing."



Arun Shourie

In a conversation with journalists Kaveree Bamzai and Daniel Thimmayya at the DakLF 2020, Shourie says that Buddha laid great emphasis on contemplating death, "He said it was important to observe a body in different stages of decay. After a day, a month, a year, till ten years later when it becomes dust."

In his latest book, Preparing for Death, he delves into a subject that most of the world avoids or is scared of — death. Shourie talks about why it's important to ponder on and understand death and to not shy away from making peace with it. Shourie says it is important to be conscious about death instead of distancing ourselves from it.

But he also warns that if thoughts about death make you depressed, then it's best to stop thinking about it. Shourie in his book studies the lives and last days of the Buddha, Ramakrishna Paramahamsa, Ramana Maharshi, Gandhiji, Vinoba Bhave and others. "When you ask someone how to prepare for death, the usual response is to ensure you lead a good life. But even then we are talking about being attached to life or the goodness of it, so you are not really looking at death and so you are not really preparing for it," he says.

Abhaya murder accused get life term

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

A CASE of "sex and murder" indeed, said the CBI Special Court in Thiruvananthapuram, while delivering the sentence against the culprits of Sr Abhaya. The court on Wednesday sentenced Father Thomas Kottoor and Sister Sephy to life imprisonment, a day after pronouncing the duo guilty in the murder of the young nun who accidentally witnessed them engage in sexual acts.

Special Court Judge K Sanilkumar also imposed a fine of ₹6.5 lakh on the first-accused Kottoor and ₹5.5 lakh on the third-accused Sephy. The CBI court had discharged second-accused Father Jose Poothrikkayil two years ago.

> Court judgement

"The fact that the accused persons were caught in flagrante delicto provoked (them) to do away with the deceased," read the judgment, which backed the prosecution's "copper bottomed allegation" that the case was one of sex and murder. Abhaya's death was a homicide, and it has been proved that the "sexual act was the cause of the murder and murder was the effect of the sexual act," the judgment said.

The court reached the conclusion by relying on the statements of social worker Kalarcode Venugopal, petty thief Adakka Raju, Sephy's medical examination report and circumstantial evidence. According to the judgment, Abhaya was attacked on her head with some weapon, and her death was caused by the resultant injury and drowning. There were six ante-mortem injuries on her person and nail marks on both sides of her neck, the judgment further read. Citing forensic expert Dr V Kanthaswami's report, it said three of these injuries had occurred before Abhaya's body was submerged in water, while two oblique injuries on the head could have been caused by the weapon. In addition, the fact that Sephy was staying alone in the convent's cellar on the fateful day was held against the accused.

The defense lawyers' argument that Abhaya had depression was also shredded by the court, who quoted the statements of Prof Thressiamma, who taught Abhaya at the BCM College, to prove otherwise.

POLICE GIVE TIGHT SECURITY TO WISTRON UNIT

V VELAYUDHAM @ Kolar

THE police have provided tight security at the Narasapura Industrial Hub, particularly near Wistron Corporation unit, which witnessed large-scale violence by its workers on December 12, said Inspector General of Police (Central) Seemant Kumar Singh, here on Wednesday.

The police are extending all help to the company, which makes iPhones, to restart operations at the earliest, he added. In all, four criminal cases have been filed -- three on the complaints by Wistron officials and one from the police, he said.

The Kolar police have so far arrested 167 workers, including a few women, in connection with the violence. The rioting workers were arrested after verification of the CCTV footage. Some protesters are missing, but they will be traced and arrested soon, he added.

Kolar Superintendent of Police Karthick Reddy said that they are conducting the inquiry from all angles. The probe includes six contractors who supplied workers to Wistron -- Innova Source, Creative Engineers, Quess Corp, Needs, Rand Stad and Adheco Group – company officials and workers, he added.

The Kolar police arrested two more persons on Tuesday. The police had arrested prime accused Kaviraj and three persons last week. This takes the arrests in the case so far to six.

The five other arrested persons are Likith , first year B. Com student , Ullas, second year B.Com student, Manoj, Raghavendra and Praveen.

Seeanth Kumar Singh said the police had recovered Rs 20.5 lakh, one Innova, two Maruti Swift, one Maruti Ritz and one KTM Duke, and also weapons used for kidnapping.

He said that after the case was transferred from Bellandur to Kolar, a team headed by Kolar SP Karthick Reddy was formed to nab the accused persons. The team worked from various angles and travelled to Madhya Pradesh, neighbouring Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu and arrested Kaviraj in Madurai after a car chase for nearly 20km. He said Kaviraj was involved in nine criminal cases in Bengaluru City and one case in Tamil Nadu.

Varthur Prakash had alleged that he and his driver were abducted from near his farmhouse on November 25.

Kerala Guv to CM: Your duty to keep me informed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ T'Puram

GOVERNOR Arif Mohammed Khan has responded to Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan's letter, saying he rejected the cabinet's recommendation to convene a special assembly session on Wednesday because the government failed to convey the factors that necessitated it. He also sought to remind the chief minister that it was his duty to keep the governor informed of the government's decisions.

In his letter to the governor on Tuesday, the CM had said that Khan's decision was contrary to the constitutional scheme. In his reply, the governor said the farmers' protest in Delhi was an issue in which the state had no jurisdiction so as to offer any solution. Khan also expressed his displeasure over the contents of the CM's letter to him -- which was marked "confidential" -- being released to the media.

The governor said the government had on December 18 recommended convening of the budget session of the assembly on January 8 for which approval was given on December 21. He said, on the same day, the government withdrew its earlier recommendation and sent a fresh proposal to summon an emergency session on December 23.

"Even in the current matter, I did not refuse to accede to your request. I merely raised some questions and hoped that you would respond with full information to satisfy me that some unforeseen things have happened and show what you propose to do to deal with this unexpected situation," the governor wrote in his letter.

Khan said the government did not reply to his questions, but brought in extraneous issues which he had not raised at any stage. "In your response, you did not address the question relating to the nature of emergency which necessitated summoning of an emergency session of the assembly," the governor said.

"You'll agree that as chief minister, it is your constitutional duty to keep the governor fully informed about the decisions of the government and it is my right to be consulted and to counsel the government," Khan reminded Pinarayi.

TIME TO BUILD ON THE GAINS FROM J&K DDC ELECTIONS

On the face of it, the People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration, an amalgamation of political foes brought together by their opposition to the reading down of Article 370 and removal of statehood to Jammu and Kashmir, has scored a major victory in the District Development Council elections in J&K. It has won more than 110 seats out of 280 while the BJP, its main rival, managed to bag only 74. Of the 20 district councils, the PAGD has won control of nine, all in the Valley, while the BJP will head six councils, all in the Jammu region. The remaining five are up for grabs.

But beyond the numbers, the message from the election is not an unqualified endorsement of the PAGD. This is clear from the fact that the BJP, for the first time, managed to win three seats in Kashmir. For the saffron party, the restoration of Article 370 was a non-issue. So the fact that it managed to make inroads in the region shows there is a constituency that is willing to let the controversial constitutional provision be dead and buried. The PAGD, whose sole election theme was the restoration of Article 370 and statehood, put up a strong performance in the Valley, underlining that the issues are still relevant. But at the same time, the BJP's debut in the region also represents a rejection of the alliance and its core beliefs. It's true the state government employed many dirty tricks to scuttle the PAGD's prospects. In the name of security and threats from militants, it convinced the alliance's candidates to not move outdoors to campaign and remain confined to "safe houses" while the security forces allowed BJP candidates to canvass. But even so, the elections were mostly, if not completely, free and fair and the results are a true reflection of the mood on the ground.

The time now is to build on the gains from the DDC elections. The healthy turnout even in the Kashmir Valley shows the people are ready to put Article 370 behind them and look ahead. The J&K government's immediate task must be to bring development, jobs and security. After this, it should look to building trust and winning hearts.

NOT A PRETTY PICTURE IN K'TAKA iPHONE PLANT

$250 million is not a figure to be scoffed at. India, after all, seeks to get investors to sow their good money in this soil. And what could be more symbolic of a consumer product of the Information Age than the iPhone! Now, $250 million is what Taiwanese company Wistron has benchmarked as its India plan. But those plans are not quite going the way it would have liked. When the first headlines broke about violent labour unrest at its iPhone plant at Narasapura, in Karnataka's Kolar district, those prone to easy outrage would have cavilled against all that militant unionism. Glass panes, cars, assembly units, furniture: the anarchic anger from thousands of workers spared nothing. Not a pretty picture. But then, the stories started leaking out about the appalling contract conditions, salary cuts and long-pending wages.

As word got around, and attracted notice around the world, Apple Inc itself had to sit up and take notice. Now it has put Wistron on probation. The reasons may not be philanthropic. Something very core to Apple is injured if that intangible thing called 'brand value' is hit. Whatever may be the logic of late-capitalist labour outsourcing, a sleek iPhone SE will not exude that same vibe if the odour of a Kolar sweat shop is attached to it. As of now, rival Taiwanese contract manufacturers like Foxconn and Pegatron—who too have a significant India footprint—may benefit from Wistron's discomfiture, and Tamil Nadu may step in to wean away some manufacturing from Karnataka. No wonder B S Yediyurappa is working overtime. Some 167 workers at Kolar have been arrested, mediation is afoot to bring equanimity to another trouble spot—the two Toyota Kirloskar plants at Bidadi—and BSY has now reaffirmed his plans for a Global Investors Summit. But even as the toys of tomorrow roll off the belt, the ancient questions still linger in the air like ghosts at the factory gates.

For many leaders, managing the short and long term simultaneously is a great challenge. They are important for institution building, but how does a leader do both?

SHAPING INSTITUTIONS: SHORT VS LONG TERM AND LEVERS OF CHANGE

BUILDING BUSINESSES

There are several well-run Indian companies, but only a few qualify as business institutions. A business institution has at its core certain universally accepted values for which it is held in high esteem. It has an innate resilience to withstand tectonic challenges, yet is continuously achieving performance benchmarks. Such transformational leaders are 'shapers', who are characterised by distinct MBAs—Mindset, Behaviour and Action—along eight dimensions. In this article, we illustrate two dimensions: Short vs Long Term and Levers of Change.

Short Term vs Long Term:

For many leaders, managing the short and long term simultaneously is a great challenge. They are necessary and important for institution building, but how does a leader do both? Our research and writings on six companies—Marico, Kotak Bank, HDFC group, L&T, Biocon and TCS—gave us some useful insights.

Marico's value statement affirms 'profit optimisation'. This signals that there will be no trade-off between quality and costs for short-term benefits. For Harsh Mariwala, this commitment meant that the gap between revenues and profits was acceptable so long as the growth line was steeper than the loss line. Marico avoided the common practice of month-end loading of stocks into its channel. Harsh ensured this by installing an integrated MIS that linked supply to channel sales. This commitment to the trade has had a beneficial impact on Marico's long-term profitability.

At Kotak Mahindra Bank, Uday Kotak's policy was to take granular steps: "It will be slower, but success will be more solid and sustainable". All decisions were based on an underlying criteria of value creation. Kotak would often say, "If something did not create economic value, Kotak Mahindra Bank would not do it just to boost the next quarter earnings."

Anil Naik too was cast in the same mould at Larsen and Toubro. Even as the manufacturing facility at Hazira was taking shape, Naik, looking ahead, got working simultaneously on getting skilled workers by putting in place a master plan for sourcing and training workers: the hardscape, creating capacity by way of a massive fabrication yard and installing machinery, and the softscape, capability building and training manpower, were taken up simultaneously.

Naik's grasp of the fundamental truth of short-term actions building up to generate long-term value is revealed in his unremitting commitment towards ensuring that the long-term share price reflected the true value of L&T. The true value of a share is determined by growth of business along with profitability and return of capital employed. Naik launched Project Blue Chip, a programme to successfully transform L&T into a blue-chip company .

Levers of Change:

A shaper anticipates and exploits emerging trends across all functional areas to galvanise the organisation from complacency to an aspirational mindset.

Perceiving the emerging consumer trend towards 'brands' in the eighties, Harsh Mariwala engineered Marico's shift from the traditional business mindset of selling a product to the market to the professional mindset of marketing a brand to the customer. He transformed Parachute cooking oil from a commodity to a differentiated brand through innovative packaging, customised offerings and direct retailing. At the organisational level, Harsh leveraged the soft power of the human resource function to reshape Marico as an empowered and responsible family of hierarchy-unconscious members, energised by the organisational belief in viewing initiatives on the metric of 'you win or you learn'.

> At L&T, Anil Naik perceived human resources as a lever of change for institutionalising employee commitment. A win-win scheme was devised to convert the emotional equity of the employees to financial equity.... At Kotak Mahindra Bank, Uday Kotak adopted digital technology as a prime lever of change

At L&T, Anil Naik perceived human resources as a lever of change for institutionalising employee commitment. Naik was conscious of the strong sense of emotional bonding encoded in the managers of L&T, reflecting the professional values of the founders and many leaders. Under his leadership, a win-win scheme was devised to convert the emotional equity of the employees to financial equity. This was done by hiving off the cement unit to Aditya Birla Group and transferring the transaction amount to the L&T Employees Welfare Trust. As the company did not have a single owner with large shareholding, this action served to ring-fence L&T from corporate raiders, with employees now having substantial voting rights.

At Kotak Mahindra Bank, Uday Kotak adopted digital technology as a prime lever of change for rapid onboarding of customers with zero account balance through the simple process of a banking app. Kotak Bank's investment in information technology from the start-up stage enabled the bank to leverage the first-mover advantage when the RBI brought in video-based KYC option and when insurance and mutual fund operations were opened up for banks.

Over the last six months, we have summarised in this newspaper the insights and learnings from a unique research project on institution-building. This has been a rare collaboration among five academics of Bhavan's SPJIMR and a seasoned practitioner, unique in Indian management thought leadership.

(During his 50-year career, Gopalakrishnan had served as Director, Tata Sons and, before that, as Vice Chairman, Hindustan Unilever. Together, the authors have written the book 'How Harsh Mariwala Groomed Marico', to be published in February 2021)

MAKING USE OF THE LANGUAGE LANDSCAPE DIVERSITY

ANURADHA GOYAL
Author and founder of IndiTales

Four years ago, while looking at search analytics of our travel blog, we found that people were searching Hindi terms and that too in Devanagari, but they were obviously landing on an English page. This led us to launch our Hindi Travel blog that soon garnered a compact but loyal readership without much marketing. The marketing spends on the Hindi media and I assume other Indian languages stay negligible.

Things are changing fast though. Instagram recently announced that Instagram Lite would be available in several Indian languages. Google just announced that it would show relevant content in compatible Indian languages that include major Indian ones. I can already see my Google Adsense account in Hindi; Google Maps should soon follow. The Facebook app already picks up a default local language for me based on my base location. The Jio browser for Android phones supports eight Indian languages. One of the big reasons for the success of video content is that it breaks the language barriers. It can be created without worrying about the grammar rules in the language or a dialect that you are most comfortable in.

As content is being translated and published in different languages around the country and the world, it opens up translation as a career opportunity for a large number of people. Perfect for those who want to live a flexible life with a laptop as office. This in turn is an opportunity for trainers who train people in different languages, either in online or offline classrooms or through mobile apps. I am reminded of my visit to Mattur—one of the rare Sanskrit-speaking villages in Karnataka. While I was amazed to hear the fluent conversational Sanskrit, I was equally delighted to see them using basic technology to teach Sanskrit around the world. Translation may seem like a freelancer's domain but there are big projects like the Murty Classical Library of India that is translating ancient Indian classics into English to make them available to the world. Given the number of manuscripts across the country and the world classics that we need to read in India, there is an opportunity for many more such projects.

Mumbai-based Indus, through its App Bazaar, is creating India's own version of Playstore to host mobile applications by leveraging the language advantage. It offers over four lakh apps in 12 Indian languages. Currently it is the default app store on about hundred million Samsung devices in India. It offers localisation support to any developer who wants to create an Indian language mobile app or port any existing app in Indian languages along with helping them with distribution—a great move that would help local language users as well as open up opportunities for those who want to build local and hyperlocal apps in these languages. Indus's technical support though still remains global, be it device partners Samsung or cloud partners Amazon web services. The company is yet to be profitable but its pioneering investment in languages will hopefully soon take it there.

> The marketing spends on local language media are currently negligible. But things are changing fast. Instagram recently said its Lite version would be available in many Indian languages. Google just announced that it would show relevant content in compatible Indian languages

Those working on natural language processing (NLP) have been trying to bridge the gap between human and machine learning. If you have ever wondered how your mobile phone creates your version of a dictionary on your device or how it converts text to speech taking care of the nuances of your pronunciation, or how Gmail suggests possible replies for your emails, its NLP at work. Machine translation is part of its portfolio. It is an area that has seen limited yet extremely usable success. You cannot yet trust the machine translations to have literary quality, but for all practical purposes they work. Google just launched its made in India, free and open-source machine learning tool for Indian languages called Multilingual Representations for Indian Languages or MuRIL for researchers, students, and start-ups who want to create local language technologies.

IBM's Watson Discovery—an artificial intelligence-based discovery tool—now supports Hindi, which is one of the 10 languages that they support worldwide. Simply put, this means that all the content available in these supported languages can now be searched for and translated to the language searched in. The impact of this is multi-dimensional. English would cease to be a necessary condition for both employers as well as employees, sharpening the focus on the core competencies and widening the net at both ends. Not to miss the opportunities in building more such technology tools.

A Gujarati reader once reported that he translates my posts using Google translate and gets confused, urging me to write in Gujarati. It told me about the need or market for local languages, the adaptation of latest technologies in remote areas, and the knowledge and hence opportunities gap that a better solution can plug for the user.

For the longest time we have seen digital nomads travelling the world teaching spoken English in non-English speaking regions. Would we see people travelling around to teach yoga or music speaking their own languages and using technology to communicate?

All credit to CBI

Finally, after 28 years, the court has found Father Thomas Kottoor and Sister Sephy guilty in the Sister Abhaya murder case and justice has been delivered. Now the Church should apologise to the public for protecting the guilty. The state police didn't perform its duty. All credit goes to the CBI and once again, it has proved to be a trustworthy agency.

Eappen Elias, Thiruvananthapuram

Justice at last

Hats off to the CBI for the verdict in the Sister Abhaya murder case. It is a pity that it took nearly three decades for a logical conclusion. There are many other such cases in the whole country that require immediate attention.

M T Thomas, Peruva

Relief for bereaved family

After many twists and turns, exemplary punishment was meted out to both Father Kottoor and Sister Sephy for murder and destruction of evidence. The bereaved family can finally heave a sigh of relief after 28 long years.

Dileep D Anand, Karuvatta

Verdict not final

The present verdict in the Abhaya case will not end here as the accused are expected to go on appeal. In a similar case in the mid-sixties, Father Benedict was sentenced to death by the Kollam Sessions Court but the Kerala High Court acquitted him. The then state government took a political decision not to go on appeal to the apex court. A similar turn of events cannot be ruled out now.

N A Joseph, Ettumanoor

Democracy is the winner

The recent DDC election has paved the way for restoration of democracy in J&K. Democracy triumphed over Pakistan-sponsored terror and fear-mongering. That the BJP has made inroads into the Kashmir Valley is significant after the reading down of Article 370.

Maintain existing toilets too

The My City My Budget campaign that will seek suggestions from the people, especially with regards to building public toilets and pedestrian pathways, is a novel way of involving citizens (BBMP launches campaign to make Palike budget more citizen-friendly, Dec 22). But the maintenance of even existing common lavatories is far from satisfactory.

V N Subramanyam, Bengaluru

Vertical garden welcome

It was heartening to learn that a vertical garden is being readied on the Cathedral Road Flyover at Radhakrishnan Salai in Chennai (Not a tall order, Dec 22). Hope such gardens come up in other places too. It will be nice if gardeners are appointed to maintain them.

Srinivasan B, Chennai

Killing the golden goose

This is with reference to the editorial Test of Men in Blue's mettle in Australia (Dec 22). It would be a tall order for the Indian cricket team to salvage its reputation in the current series in Australia. The BCCI's promotion of the shorter version of the game has resulted in an decline in quality. With its greed, the board has killed the golden goose.

Y D Ramdas, Visakhapatnam

Many coaches, yet ...

Formerly, there used to be only a manager travelling with the team. Now we have a chief coach, along with specialised coaches for batting, bowling and fielding. Yet, the team was bundled out in the second innings and also dropped many catches. With a comfortable lead in the first innings, it was hard to understand the collapse in the second.

S S Rajagopalan, Chennai

Age-old problem

Barring the series against Australia in 2018, the age-old problem of India performing badly in away Tests continues. Unless the team is consistent in winning Test matches outside Indian soil, it hardly makes any sense to call them world-beaters.

Under the scheme, ₹6,000 per annum is provided in three installments to small and marginal farmer families having combined land holding or ownership of upto 2 hectares. The states and the UTs will identify the farmers who are eligible for drawing the benefits

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMIDST the ongoing agrarian protest, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will virtually address farmers from six states on Friday and release the next batch of financial aid ₹18,000 crore from the PM-Kisan scheme.

The PM's session with farmers is a part of the government's efforts to reach out to the farmers who are on protest for nearly a month against the three central agriculture laws. Modi had released the first tranche in 2019 whose beneficiaries were thousands of farmers, largely selected from Punjab.

Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said that over two crores farmers have registered to attend the online programme on Wednesday. The Centre commemorates the birth anniversary of former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee on December 25 as "Good Governance Day".

Nine crore beneficiaries of the PM Kisan Nidhi scheme will get the next instalment on Friday, Tomar added. "The Prime Minister will release the next instalment of financial benefit under PM-Kisan via video conferencing. With the push of a button, the PM will enable the transfer of more than ₹18,000 crore to more than nine crore beneficiary farmer families," the government said in a media statement. "The Prime Minister will also have a conversation with farmers from six different states during the event."

During the meeting, it stated, farmers will share their experiences regarding the scheme as well as various other initiatives taken by the Centre.

Recently, Modi had addressed farmers of Madhya Pradesh when the Shivraj Singh Chouhan-led BJP government disbursed compensations for the crop loss due to hailstorms. The Prime Minister had said that he would speak to them again on December 25 in detail. In the face of the agitation against the farm laws, the government is seen working overtime to garner support of the legislation even while Tomar has said that the government is open for talks with the agitating farmers.

Kisan Mall comes up for protesters at Tikri border

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chandigarh/New Delhi

WITH the protest sites at Delhi borders turning into mini townships, a 'Kisan Mall' has come up at Tekri to cater to the daily needs of the farmers.

Set up by the NGO Khalsa Aid, the essential items being provided free of cost to the farmers at the mall include toothbrush, toothpaste, oil, soap, shampoo, slippers, socks, sanitary pads, thermals, sweaters, jackets, vests, blankets and so on.

The NGO's volunteers distribute coupons at each and every tractor-trolley. A protester has to bring the coupon to the makeshift Kisan Mall. There, he/she is given a form containing a list of 27 items and has to tick the item(s) required. A volunteer guides the buyer to the section where he/she can get the item.

"We decided to set up the mall as the farmers were not getting the right kind of items even though there was a lot of wastage. Also, many farmers did not like to stand or wait to get relief material. Women were having difficulties getting the items of their choice. We have just segregated the items which we are getting in donations so that the person who wants it can get it easily," Khalsa Aid director (Asia-Pacific), Amanpreet Singh, told this newspaper. "The items that we do not get in donations are procured. We have distributed around 500 coupons to start with. As of now, there are 27 items with us at the mall for free distribution."

Singh admitted that more relief materials were coming at Singhu border as compared to Tikri. The NGO had earlier installed foot massagers at the Singhu border.

Rice company leaves MP paddy farmers in a lurch

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

WHILE the farmers at Delhi borders have refused to budge from their demand of repealing the agri laws, about 900 km away, dozens of paddy farmers in BJP-ruled Madhya Pradesh's Hoshangabad have been left in a lurch by a rice company, for which they've been contract farming for last four years.

Pyramids of harvested paddy outside the houses and stackyards of the paddy farmers in Gadhaghat and other villages reveal their misery. The Delhi-NCR based company allegedly went back on its promise of buying their produce at prevailing market price on the pretext that harvested samples contained the hazardous chemical Hexa.

This is the same rice company that had reneged on its contract clause of buying the produce of paddy farmers at the prevailing market price plus ₹50 bonus in Bhaukhandi village.

It was after the local administration acted against the company under the new contract farming law that it procured paddy from 12 farmers.

Top BJP leaders have been citing this instance at BJP's Kisan Chaupals to tomtom the benefits of the new farm laws.

Now, the farmers in other villages are repenting contract farming for the company.

"Just like the previous three years, we sourced seeds and fertilizers from the same local traders who've worked as intermediaries between us and the company. But this year, they are saying the paddy has heavy traces of Hexa," Ram Shankar and Patiram Patel told this newspaper.

Rattled Anil Sharma and Mithilesh Chowdhary said they would henceforth sell their produce at the mandis.

Nitin Taale, the sub-divisional magistrate who had acted against the company in the case of Bhaukhandi farmers, said, "The administration will act as per the new law once the farmers concerned come to us."

Case against farmers who blocked Khattar's convoy

Thirteen farmers, who had waved black flags and tried to stop the convoy of the Haryana CM Manohar Lal Khattar on Tuesday, were booked on charges including attempt to murder, rioting, obstructing public servant in discharge of public functions, criminal intimidation among others. Police claimed some farmers had tried to charge towards the convoy and blocked its movement for some time.

Jailed activists on hunger strike in solidarity

Various activists arrested in the Elgar Parishad case observed a day-long hunger strike on Wednesday at Taloja jail in Maharashtra in support of farmers. The activists, in a joint statement on the occasion of the National Farmers' Day, said they are observing a day-long symbolic hunger strike in the jail since they cannot participate physically in the ongoing farmers' agitation.

Petitioner seeks to implead over 40 agri unions

One of the petitioners, who has approached the apex court seeking the removal of farmers from borders of Delhi, has sought to implead over 40 farmer unions as party in the case. A bench headed by CJI S A Bobde had given liberty to the petitioner to serve the impleaded farmer unions. Law student Rishabh Sharma, the petitioner, has now filed an amended memo of parties in the top court.

Fund boost to scholarship scheme for SC students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs on Wednesday approved ₹59,000 crore in an enhanced outlay for a scholarship scheme meant for funding education of students from scheduled castes.

Union Minister for Social Justice Thawerchand Gehlot said that the enhanced outlay for the Post Metric Scholarship scheme will benefit more than four crore students in the next five years.

While the Centre will bear 60 per cent of the total cost of the scheme, the rest will be shared by the state governments. Under the scheme, the SC students get the scholarships to pursue higher education after their matriculation examinations, with the government bearing the full cost of education.

"The Central government is committed to give a big push and further impetus to ensure enrolment ratio of SCs reach up to the national standards within five year period," said the government in a media statement, adding that the focus would be on enrolling the poorest students, timely payments, comprehensive accountability, continuous monitoring and total transparency.

Aiming to bring over 1.36 crore students not pursuing higher education after the class 10, the government said that it would launch a campaign to enroll such students under the Centrally sponsored scheme.

"The scheme will be run on an online platform with robust cyber security measures that would assure transparency, accountability, efficiency, and timely delivery of the assistance without any delays.," said the government. "The States will undertake fool-proof verification of the eligibility, caste status, Aadhaar identification and bank account details on the online portal."

Also, a campaign would be launched to enroll the students from the poorest households passing the 10th standard in courses of their choice.

Antibodies generated by Covaxin may persist for 6-12 months: Report

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

INDIA'S homegrown potential Covid vaccine Covaxin has shown dual immune response, raising hopes for immunity against coronavirus lasting up to one year, according to the results of phase 1 and 2 clinical trials made public on Wednesday.

The Bharat Biotech company, which has developed the vaccine in collaboration with the ICMR, has already sought emergency use approval from the Drug Controller General of India based on the data but has been asked to submit additional data on safety and immunogenicity. The vaccine, as of now, is under Phase 3 trial and the company has planned to test it in 26,000 individuals aged 12-65 years.

As per the scientific paper released on BioRxiv, a preprint server of medical studies, in a double-blind, randomised, multi-centre, Phase 2 clinical trial, a total of 380 healthy children and adults were randomised to receive two vaccine formulations and two intramuscular doses of vaccines were administered four weeks apart.

In a follow-up of the Phase 1 trial, Covaxin produced high levels of neutralising antibodies that remained elevated in all participants three months after the second vaccination.

Based on these results, researchers said that the vaccine can generate antibodies that may persist for 6-12 months.

When approached for his comments on the study, immunologist Seyed Hasnain said the vaccine candidate generated both antibodies and T-cell response. "The study design is very good and results are extremely encouraging," he said. "I particularly liked the fact that it has already been tested in children. But phase 3 study will give a clearer picture."

As per the research paper, higher neutralising titres of up to two-fold was observed in the Phase 2 study as compared to Phase 1 study.

After two doses, local and systemic adverse reactions observed in both vaccine groups were minimal, and the majority of them resolved within 24 hours of onset. No serious adverse events were reported.

"The results from the phase 2 study show that both humoral and cell-mediated responses were observed," Bharat Biotech said in a statement.

"No neutralising antibody differences were observed between sexes and across age groups. BBV152 (Covaxin) was well tolerated in both dose groups with no serious adverse events."

'Third aircraft carrier is essential for India given China's activities'

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

A third aircraft carrier is a necessity for India due to operational and tactical reasons, especially in the context of China's growing imprint on the Indian Ocean, said a senior Navy officer.

"Three aircraft carriers are tactically needed with one each on the Eastern and Western sea board at any given time while the third will be under refit," the officer said. "To deny it just for financial crunch is misplaced understanding. We require a third aircraft carrier for operational and tactical reasons."

India currently has one serving aircraft carrier, INS Vikramaditya, while another indigenously built INS Vikrant is scheduled to be commissioned by 2022. Earlier this month in Kolkata, Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat, had said that submarines and aircraft carriers "have their advantages and disadvantages."

The officer said the Navy cannot lose a skill mastered in the last 60 years as it takes time to develop the skill-set in terms of operational design and development. An aircraft carrier, the officer asserted, adds to the "surge capability" as the fighter jets operating from land will always have their limitations.

Given the Chinese belligerence in the Indian Ocean, the officer said the country will have to extend air power into far-off areas like the Malacca Strait on one side and Gulf of Aden on the other. "Concentration of force is a principle of war. If you have two operationally ready carriers, you can be active in two areas. If needed, you can move it, bringing a different environment to the battle."

NEW VERSUS OLD DISCONTENT BREWS IN BENGAL BJP

EXPRES NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

INTRAPARTY discontent over new Trinamool Congress turncoats is brewing in the BJP as the party's old foot soldiers are getting impatient about having to work with those who were once their arch rivals.

Clashes between old party workers and newcomers have taken place in West Midnapore and Durgapur and posters against new defectors are seen at many places.

A brawl took place in Durgapur at a venue on Tuesday where TMC supporters were due to join the BJP in the presence of state party chief Dilip Ghosh. The two sides attacked each other with plastic chairs. In Narayangarh too, similar clashes took place. The discontent sharpened after former TMC strongman Suvendu Adhikari joined the saffron camp along with six MLAs of the ruling party and their followers in the presence of Shah on December 19 in Midnapore.

"A week ago, we fought with the same TMC leaders and their followers. Our party grew strong with the support of those who were harassed by the ruling party. Now, I find the same TMC workers carrying BJP flags hurling bombs at my house. How can we share party offices with our tormentors?" asked a BJP local leader in Durgapur. Ghosh said the BJP's only goal is to throw out TMC supremo Mamata Banerjee's government. "In other states, our party accepted defectors from other parties and won elections. Similar practice is followed in Bengal. Expressing discontent publicly is not acceptable," he said.

On Wednesday, the party show-caused women's wing president Agnimitra Paul and two functionaries of Alipurduar district in north Bengal for issuing statements against two new entrants from the TMC. Paul is opposed to the possibility of TMC MLA Jitendra Tiwari's induction in the party. Union minister Babul Supriyo and BJP general secretary Sayantan Basu are also opposed to Tiwari's entry. BJP's state vice president Pratap Bandopadhyay served Basu a show-cause letter. BJP sources said the party leadership will speak to Supriyo soon.

After hosting Shah, folk singer to join Didi's show

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

POLITICAL slugfest between the BJP and the Trinamool Congress broke out over engaging Basudeb Das, the folk singer at whose house Amit Shah had lunch in Bolpur, four days after the Shah left Bengal.

When BJP's national general secretary Anupam Hazra said in a social media post that the plight of the poor folk singer didn't come to the mind of the TMC in past 10 years, the ruling party assured Das of helping him to continue his daughter's education and invited him to present in chief minister Mamata Banerjee's roadshow on December 29 along the same stretch where the saffron camp organised a similar event with Shah on a flower-decked vehicle.

Sources in the TMC said Das gave his nod to participate in Mamata's roadshow. Ghosh also met TMC's Birbhum district president Anubrata Mondal on Tuesday. Das said no TMC leader forced him to go to Mondal. "I met the TMC's district president to seek his help for my daughter's education. He assured me. When the party invited me to be present in the chief minister's roadshow, I gave my nod. A folk singer never discriminates anyone by his or her political identity," he said.

Recounting the event of Shah's lunch, Das said, "I sang a folk song for him. He was in a hurry. I could not get chance to narrate my plight before him."

'BJP will win 20 Valley seats in Assembly poll'

BJP national spokesman Shahnawaz Hussain, who was in-charge of District Development Council (DDC) polls in Kashmir, told Fayaz Wani in an interview that he was happy that the Lotus has finally bloomed in the Valley and expressed hope that the party will be able to form government in J&K after assembly elections. Excerpts from the interview...

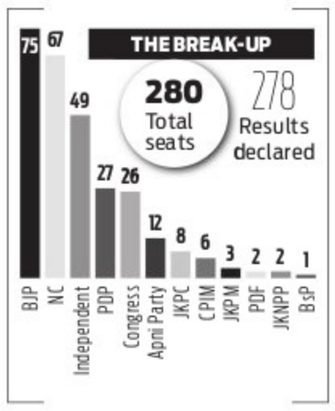
How important is BJP getting three seats in Kashmir?
Our mission was to get the Lotus bloom in Kashmir Valley and it has finally bloomed. We won three seats, though we expected more. We worked very hard on the ground, reached out to the people and listened to their problems and grievances. We even went to the areas where Abdullahs and Muftis had never gone.

Are you satisfied with the poll results?
Democracy has been the ultimate winner in the DDC polls. For us, it does not matter how many seats the party got. What matters is that democracy has won and I salute the J&K people for that. The polling percentage was better compared to previous elections. People came out to vote for development.

The PAGD has emerged as the single largest group. How does the BJP see it?
The BJP emerged as the single largest party and got more votes than those polled by the Gupkar Gang and Congress. The Gupkar Gang was formed by these parties because they were scared of the BJP. Had they not contested as an alliance, they would have been routed. The Congress, the master party of this gang, has suffered another big defeat.

We also managed to breach the strong fort of 'Gupkar Gang' in Kashmir by winning three seats. They had ganged up to not let the BJP enter this fort, but we have managed to breach it and make the Lotus bloom.

How do you see the decline in BJP's seat share in Jammu compared to 2014 assembly polls?
These were DDC polls and cannot be compared with assembly and Lok Sabha elections, where issues and priorities are different.



Was the BJP happy with the voter turnout?
It was for the first time since Rajiv Gandhi damaged democracy in J&K by rigging 1987 polls that people came out and voted. There was enthusiasm among the voters and people came out to vote in south, central and north Kashmir. I thank the people for voting in large numbers and standing in long queues in the chilling cold to show their faith in democracy. The polls were held in a free, fair and peaceful atmosphere.

The Gupkar Alliance alleged they were not given a level-playing field?
The Gupkar Gang leaders did not campaign because of BJP's fear. They should accept the results and not make false claims.

The alliance says it was a vote against Article 370. What's your view?
This is a total lie. This vote was neither for Article 370 nor 35A. It was a vote for DDC...for development. Many independents who contested against the Gupkar Gang have also won.

When will the assembly elections be held?
It will be held after delimitation. We hope that the support and love we've got from people in Kashmir, we will be able to win 20 seats in the Valley and form our own government.

Will the BJP approach independent candidates to form DDC in Srinagar, where only three PAGD candidates have won?
It is too premature to say anything. The party will decide.

Mehbooba targets Centre as NIA raids aide's house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Srinagar

A day after the Gupkar Alliance emerged as the single largest group by winning 111 seats out of the 280 DDC seats in Jammu and Kashmir, the Enforcement Directorate on Wednesday raided the residence of PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti's close aide and former MLA Anjum Fazili in Srinagar. Sources said the NIA took some documents with them after the raid. After the raid, Mehbooba dared the Centre to fight her politically while Farooq Abdullah said that the Centre wants to scare them, his son Omar Abdullah said the BJP, after facing defeating in DDC polls, won't conduct the Assembly elections in J&K at the earliest.

"Let them fight me politically. Don't target my friends, my family and my colleagues. If they want to arrest me... then they should arrest me," she said and accused the Central government of misusing agencies, including NIA and ED.

The PDP chief said through Waheed, who was arrested by NIA in a militancy case, they tried to connect me with terror funding. "They are coward".

"May be it will be my last press conference. I don't know when they will arrest me. They have arrested our leaders. They don't tell us why they have detained our leaders," Mehbooba said.

NC president and three-time former J&K Chief minister Farooq Abdullah said they (GoI) wants to scare them. "But they don't know Farooq Abdullah, who is the son of Sher-i-Kashmir Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah, only bows before Allah." Omar Abdullah said people have voted for restoration of Article 370 and 35A and the Centre and BJP should accept that people have rejected August 5, 2019 decisions.

Omar said it is amusing to see desperation of 'BJP propaganda wallas'. "Yesterday they were talking about winning three seats in Valley and today it's about being the single largest party."

INDEPENDENTS ARE HOT PROPERTY IN SRINAGAR

Srinagar: With independents winning a majority of seats in Srinagar District Development Council (DDC), political parties are trying to woo the independents to get control of the prestigious and important DDC. Of the 14 DDC seats in Srinagar, independents won seven seats, J&K Apni Party three, while NC, PDP, JKPM and BJP won one seat each. Srinagar is a prestigious and important DDC as it houses the seat of governance (Civil Secretariat) during the summer months when Srinagar is the capital of J&K. Srinagar has remained the dominant base of both National Conference and PDP.

Marathas brought under EWS quota

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

IN a move apparently aimed at circumventing the Supreme Court stay on Maratha quota, the Maharashtra cabinet on Wednesday decided to allow the community to get the benefits of the Centre's economically weaker section (EWS) category. This means the Marathas can get reservation in education and jobs in the state under the 10 per cent EWS quota.

The community has already been categorised as economically and socially backward class (SEBC) and the State government had earlier offered reservation to the community under this category. However, the SC had stayed the order, citing the 50 per cent reservation cap, in September.

Government sources said the cabinet decision came after NCP chief Sharad Pawar's intervention. The Marathas have been threatening to launch a statewide protest over the issue. Pawar is learnt to have told Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray to solve the issue in a manner acceptable to both the government and the Maratha community.

"Pawar consulted various legal and constitutional experts before the cabinet decision. He has played a major role in solving the Maratha quota issue," said a source.

As per the cabinet decision, it will be voluntary to avail the quota benefit under the EWS category. However, those opting for EWS certificates will not be eligible to avail the reservation benefit under SEBC category. While issuing EWS certificates, the state government will check the income of the candidates, said the cabinet note.

The State had challenged the apex court stay on implementation of the Maratha quota. The next hearing in the matter before a constitution bench is slated for January 25.

Trump hints he won't approve stimulus bill, calls it a disgrace

$600 cheques for individuals 'ridiculously low', he wants Congress to raise it to $2,000

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump on Tuesday indicated that he would reject a $900 billion bipartisan Covid stimulus package, calling it "a disgrace" and demanding that lawmakers more than triple relief payments to Americans.

While the president did not explicitly say he would not sign the bill, which passed overwhelmingly Monday in both houses of Congress, Trump made clear he would not accept the legislation.

"It really is a disgrace," Trump said in a video message posted to Twitter on Tuesday.

"I am asking Congress to amend this bill and increase the ridiculously low $600 to $2,000, or $4,000 for a couple," he said, referring to relief cheques meant to go out to most Americans.

"I'm also asking Congress to immediately get rid of the wasteful and unnecessary items from this legislation, and just send me a suitable bill."

As the Covid-19 death count rises amid a massive coronavirus resurgence that further threatens the world's largest economy, Republican and Democratic legislators finally hammered out a bill after months of wrangling and partisan finger-pointing.

Any delay in approving a deal would have dire consequences — it is meant to spare millions of jobless workers days away from seeing their unemployment benefits expire, and provide a new round of cash payouts.

Donald Trump

Small businesses will benefit from more government grants, while the package also includes rental assistance and help to families facing eviction.

The massive package is part of a $2.3 trillion, almost 5,600-page "coronabus" bill that includes a so-called omnibus bill to fund the government for the coming year. Despite Trump's bombshell, Wall Street stocks were mostly higher early on Wednesday. Investors looked past the risk the bill could die and instead focused on the possibility of a richer stimulus.

The market "was happy with the agreed-upon deal," said Briefing.com analyst Patrick O'Hare. "If the direct stimulus payment was ultimately increased to $2,000, it would simply make the market happier (relatively speaking.)"

China seeks additional guarantees before approving mega loan

China has sought additional guarantees before sanctioning a whopping $6-billion loan for a railway line project in Pakistan due to weakening financial position of its all weather ally, a media report said on Wednesday. China has also proposed a mix of commercial and concessional loans to fund the Main Line-1 (ML-1) project in Pakistan, going against Islamabad's wishes of 'cheapest lending'. A senior Pakistani official involved in the negotiations said China raised the additional guarantees issue during the meeting, but did not make it part of the draft of minutes shared with Pakistan. The official said that China raised the additional guarantees issue to get a clarity over Pakistan's financial condition after Islamabad applied for debt relief from the Group of 20 countries

THAILAND

Surge in Covid cases after months of calm

After managing against the odds to keep the coronavirus largely in check for most of the year, Thailand has suddenly found itself challenged by an expanding outbreak among migrant workers on the doorstep of Bangkok, the capital. The surge of cases in Samut Sakhon province threatens to undo months of efforts to contain the virus and hasten recovery of Thailand's ailing economy. Cases related to the outbreak have already been reported in more than a dozen other provinces, including Bangkok. Officials in the capital ordered existing safety measures, such as social distancing, mask wearing and checking for fevers, to be more strictly observed at markets, temples, parks and entertainment venues. Schools have also been ordered to close.

Nepal drama reaches top court

KATHMANDU

NEPAL'S Supreme Court on Wednesday forwarded all writ petitions challenging Prime Minister K P Sharma Oli's move to abruptly dissolve the Parliament to a Constitutional bench, amid intensified struggle between the two warring factions of the Nepal Communist Party to wrest control of the ruling party.

Chief Justice Cholendra Shumsher Rana's single bench passed the order after a preliminary hearing on the 12 different writ petitions filed against the dissolution of the House of Representatives, according to court sources.

The Constitutional bench will start the hearing on Friday. The bench is led by Chief Justice Rana and will have four other justices who will be picked by him. During the preliminary hearings on Wednesday, senior lawyers citing Constitutional provisions argued that Prime Minister Oli has no right to dissolve the House of Representatives so long as there is a possibility of forming an alternative government. It was a coup against the Constitution itself, said senior advocate Dinesh Tripathi, one of the petitioners.

K P Oli Sharma

As per the Constitution, if the majority government is dissolved, there is a provision to form an alternative government by two or more political parties and a minority government could also be formed before going to the people for fresh mandate, he pointed out. PM Oli cannot block the process of forming an alternative government by suddenly dissolving the House of Representatives, he said. Although the petitioners demanded an interim order against the prime minister's decision, the apex court refused to issue any such order.

'Prachanda' elected new parliamentary leader

Meanwhile, executive chairman Pushpa Kamal Dahal 'Prachanda'-led faction of the ruling party on Wednesday elected him as the new parliamentary leader, replacing Oli.

The 66-year-old leader's nomination was proposed by senior leader Madhav Kumar Nepal, who was on Tuesday named as one of the two chairmen of the party. PTI

$10mn for gender programmes in Pakistan embedded in text

WASHINGTON

REPUBLICAN criticism was swift after it came to light that the $900 billion Covid-19 stimulus package agreed by US lawmakers has $10 million earmarked for programmes that promote gender equality in Pakistan.

The legislation makes available a minimum of $15 million in assistance to Pakistan "for democracy programs" and $10 million "for gender programs."

Appearing on Fox News, Republican Senator Graham justified the move."Pakistan is a place I really worry about. If you're a young girl in Pakistan life is pretty tough. So we're trying to make life better for women throughout the world," he said.

Latino Miguel Cardona to be Joe Biden's education secy

WASHINGTON

US President-elect Joe Biden on Tuesday nominated Miguel Cardona to be his education secretary, marking a new record for the potential number of Latinos in the cabinet. "In Miguel Cardona, America will have an experienced and dedicated public school teacher leading the way," Biden said.

The incoming president said Cardona's appointment "will help us address systemic inequities" and "tackle the mental health crisis in our education system," as well as ease student debt and give teachers a raise.

Biden, who takes office on January 20, has already tapped Alejandro Mayorkas as head of the Department of Homeland Security and Xavier Becerra as health secretary. The League of United Latin American Citizens welcomed the nomination and congratulated Biden "The choice of Miguel A Cardona as Secretary of Education signals that now we have the possibility, if he is confirmed,," the organisation said. AFP

'US politicos fell for Chinese honeytrap'

WASHINGTON

IN yet another example of China's global influence operations, a Chinese intelligence official posing as a political fundraiser built a strong relationship with top US politicos between 2011 and 15, an investigation by Axios has found.

The women, identified as Christian Fang, used every trick in the book, including forging romantic relationships to gain proximity to political power, current and former intelligence officials have told Axios.

She collected personal information, such as habits and schedules of her victims. However, US officials do not believe she received or passed on any classified information.

According to a senior intelligence official, "It was a big deal because there were some really, really sensitive people that were caught up in the intelligence network."

Among those who fell for her honeytrap are a Democratic US Congressman and mayors of two Midwestern cities.

The woman, in her late 20s, was enrolled at a California university. According to sources, she used political gatherings, civic society conferences and campaign rallies to establish contacts with elected officials.

Digital loan sharks lay death-trap for debtors

The banking regulator cautions people against unauthorised digital lending apps and their coercive recovery tactics

SESA SEN @ New Delhi

A spate of recent cases where borrowers allegedly ended their lives following humiliation by app-based financiers have brought into sharp focus the risks of instant digital lending in India. This year alone, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has cautioned people against unauthorised digital lending apps at least thrice, but the coercive recovery tactics being used by these lenders to get their money back continue in the absence of a sharper regulation. In fact, social activists, who are in touch with such borrowers facing similar issues say, most of these apps are funded by Chinese companies.

"We have received 45,000 complaints where borrowers are being harassed for repayment by loan apps," said Pravin Kalaiselvan, chairman of Save Them India Foundation. The foundation has also filed a public interest litigation in the Supreme Court against such apps. While there are illegal moneylenders who have been operating for ages and typically lend against gold ornaments or property to low-income groups, these entities give loans against data. Kalaiselvan says that these apps download contact lists, photos and other data from borrowers' phones— the consent for which the borrowers need to give while taking loans through these apps. While these portals fulfil a very real need for quick and painless loans to tide people over for short periods, the predatory interest rates are a cause of worry. Users of such loan apps are given a very small amount and tenure with rates ranging from 25-38 per cent.

Former RBI deputy governor R Gandhi likened this practice similar to methods adopted by microlenders in Andhra Pradesh in 2007 which plunged an entire industry into crisis. "They are violating customers' dignity and basic principles are not being followed," he said.

During the pandemic, there has been a sharp rise in both borrowings and defaults. To lend, the apps must be tied up with a NBFC, but often these apps are start-ups with skeletal teams. The banking regulator on Wednesday also asked the public to verify the antecedents of the company offering loans online or through mobile apps.

RBI Guv asks banks to build up lending capacity

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) governor Shaktikanta Das has asked banks to take proactive measures to strengthen their resilience and lending capacity by raising capital. During a two-day meeting with heads of banks, including the private sector lenders, the governor emphasised on the need to remain vigilant and make provisions against bad loans proactively. Current economic situation and outlook, rate cut and monetary policy transmission and liquidity situation were also discussed.

Despite an uptick in sales in the last 3 months, the current market conditions remain unpredictable... HCIL has thus decided to consolidate its operations

Gaku Nakanishi, President & CEO, HCIL

Honda Cars halts production in Greater Noida

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JAPANESE carmaker Honda Cars (HCIL) on Wednesday confirmed stopping production at its Greater Noida facility amid slowdown expected in the Indian passenger vehicle market. HCIL will now consolidate its manufacturing operation for vehicles and components at its Tapukara plant in Rajasthan for all domestic sales and exports.

"Despite an uptick in sales in the last three months, the current market conditions remain unpredictable for the industry at large. The impact of COVID-19 has pressed us to strengthen our constitution, and to achieve the same, HCIL has decided to consolidate its manufacturing operations by making the Tapukara plant a unified manufacturing base," said Gaku Nakanishi, President & CEO, HCIL. The decision by Honda comes at a time when the Indian Government has been aggressively trying to attract investment in the manufacturing sector and create jobs. According to reports, Honda employed about 2,000 workers in the manufacturing department of its oldest facility in Greater Noida that had the capacity to produce one lakh cars per annum.

"HCIL continues to believe in the resilience of the Indian economy and hope for a quicker recovery of the market. India is an extremely important market in Honda's global strategy and HCIL is committed to bring its latest and advanced technology models including electrified vehicles in future," said Nakanishi.

This is also not the first time when a foreign automaker has decided to realign its business in the Indian market. In recent times, Ford India also decided to form partnership with Mahindra & Mahindra while Volkswagen has put forward its Skoda brand to stay relevant here. American automaker General Motors, which ceased domestic operations in 2017, is expected to shutter its factory in Maharashtra this week.

NORMS NOTIFIED

In-person verification must for GST registration

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Finance Ministry has notified new norms for GST registration in a bid to check the menace of fake invoices.

According to new norm, if the applicant has opted for Aadhaar-based authentication, then every application will be followed by biometric-based Aadhaar authentication and taking photograph. In case the applicant does not go for first option, then the process involves taking biometric information, photograph an as well as verification of various KYC (Know Your Customer) documents.

Authentication will be done at one of the Facilitation Centres notified by the Commissioner. This amendment will come into effect from a date to be notified in near future after setting up of facilitation centres on the lines of Passport Seva Kendras or Aadhaar Seva Kendras.

The new norms have been prepared on the basis of recommendations of Law Committee of GST Council. The new timeline for grant of registration for Aadhaar authenticated applicant is now 7 days for proper scrutiny of application. To counter the cases of fake invoices, in a few risky cases where a person has successfully undergone Aadhaar authentication, some additional physical verification may be carried out with the approval of an officer, authorized by the Commissioner. The timeline for grant of registration in such cases would now be of 30 days.Under the new arrangement, the suspension and cancellations would be based on data analytics.

Besides, businesses with monthly turnover of over ₹50 lakh will also have to mandatorily pay at least 1 per cent of their GST liability in cash. This change will come into effect from January 1, 2021. In cases where GSTIN is suspended, no refund under section 54 of the CGST Act 2017 can be availed by taxpayers.

Income of 3 lakh households affected

A study by the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT)-Indian School of Mines, Dhanbad has revealed the closure of the iron ore mining industry in Goa has impacted revenues worth over ₹3,400 crore with household income level witnessing at least 50-30 per cent drop across talukas. Mining in Goa came to a halt in March 2018 after the Supreme Court quashed the renewal of 88 mining leases. Post-closure, savings of three lakh households depended on mining in Goa have fallen drastically, It has also resulted in loss of lakhs of direct and indirect employment.

Govt moots raising floor price for iron ore as steel prices shoot up

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

AMID soaring steel prices, the government is mulling raising floor prices for iron ore and bringing in checks to see that high-grade iron ore which is banned from being exported are not being shipped.

Nitin Gadkari, Shipping, ports and highways minister, among others has written to the Prime Minister pointing out that a 55 per cent surge in steel prices has raised project costs. Steel makers were forced to raise prices four times during the October- December quarter.

Companies involved in making steel point out that the domestic iron ore prices have increased by 120 per cent and are now averaging about ₹8,000 per tonne, causing them severe cost escalation. State-run miner NMDC has increased prices of iron ore twice last month.

Officials held inter-ministry consultations on ways to cool down both iron ore and steel prices as the Commerce Ministry officials said they were in talks with the steel ministry to try to work out a via media. "Floor prices are being considered as also stricter checks to see that high grade iron ore is not being exported by mis-labelling them as fines as is being alleged," said officials.

Part of the reason for the surge in ore prices is because China has increased its offtake resulting in iron exports from India rising by 73 per cent in April-November as compared to the same period last year.

Analysts say China is stepping up investments in infrastructure projects to beat the pandemic-driven slowdown and has at the same time stopped importing ore from Australia in a bid to punish it and hence India has become its main source. Robust demand from China is driving up prices and "we can expect the shortage to remain into the next year," said Saurabh Bhatnagar, Partner and National Leader, Metals & Mining, EY India.

Floor prices are being considered as also stricter checks to see that high grade iron ore is not being exported by mis-labelling them as fines or rejects as is being alleged...

IT stocks rally on the back of huge deal wins by Infy, Wipro

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE Information technology (IT) stocks hogged the limelight on the bourses on Wednesday after IT majors Infosys and Wipro bagged mega multi-year contracts from Germany's Daimler AG and Metro AG, respectively. The S&P BSE IT index surged 2.34 per cent. Among individual stocks, Wipro's stock on BSE touched a 20 year high at ₹385.4, a 5.9 per cent increase from the previous close of ₹364. The IT service provider's shares had previously touched this price during 2000s.

On the other hand, Infosys' share touched ₹1252.95, a 2.64 per cent high from the previous close of ₹1220.7. Infosys' 52 week high share price on BSE stood at ₹1,259. All other stocks were also trading in green with TCS' closing at ₹2,907.2, a 1.27 per cent increase from the previous close. Even mid-tier IT firms — Mindtree, L&T Infotech, Happiest Minds, Tech Mahindra rallied to hit record highs on both BSE and NSE after analysts upgraded their third quarter earnings for the current financial year (Q3 FY21).

Motilal Oswal said that Infosys was one of the fastest, and the most consistent wealth creators between 1995-2020. The deal wins by Wipro and Infosys, according to the brokerage, will be pivotal in increasing their penetration in Europe, which has historically lagged the US in outsourcing adoption. The deal wins also reinforces a positive stance on the IT services industry. "Despite rich valuations, we remain positive on the sector alluding to the multi-year growth cycle awaiting the sector," it said.

Retail credit experiences more serious delinquencies

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RETAIL credit has experienced a spike in serious delinquencies, with loans against property and credit cards being the most affected segments, says a report by a credit information bureau (CIBIL) on Wednesday.

"Credit cards delinquency rates reflected the wider economic slowdown, salary cuts and job losses caused by the pandemic. Further, credit cards often have a lower payment priority, with consumers choosing to pay other credit accounts first," the bureau said.

As of August-end, the loans overdue for over 90 days in the credit card segment were 0.51 per cent up from the year-ago period at 2.32 per cent, while the same for the loans against property was 0.34 per cent up at 3.96 per cent, Transunion Cibil said.

For Loan against Property, a product generally used by small businesses as working capital finance, delinquencies had already been on the rise prior to COVID-19. The bureau said in the case of auto loans and personal loan segments, there has been an improvement from a delinquency perspective. From a lending institution perspective, retail loans extended by non-bank finance companies (NBFCs), which typically take riskier loan bets, reported a 0.49 per cent increase in delinquencies in August as compared with the year-ago period, while the same improved 0.28 per cent for state-run lenders and 0.10 per cent for their private sector counterparts.

The report also highlighted that demand for retail credit has been growing lately and in November, retail credit demand (as measured by inquiry volumes) was back to almost 93 per cent of the levels observed in November 2019, it said.

PSU banks saw the biggest rebound in inquiries in the unlock phase, as they were early in recommencing operations than their peers, while private banks have witnessed a positive growth in inquiry volumes for the first time in November.

Airtel defeats Jio in subscriber additions for second straight month

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BHARTI Airtel beat Reliance Jio in terms of new subscriber additions—a key metric for the intensely competitive but highly saturated mobile telephone sector. According to data released by telecom regulator TRAI on Wednesday, Tlthe Sunil Bharti Mittal-led company added 3.67 million new customers in October, taking its total wireless customer base to 330.28 million. Jio, on the other hand, added 2.22 million new mobile customers, taking its total subscriber base to 406.35 million. All other telecom operators—Vodafone Idea, BSNL, and MTNL—continued to see their user bases eroding.

This is the second straight month during which Airtel has pipped Jio in terms of subscriber addition, a crucial shift in trends from earlier when Jio had expanded at top notch speed, consistently leading user addition numbers for nearly three years straight. However, with prices beginning to go up starting last December and the fading away of uncertainty following the resolution of the AGR case has allowed Airtel to ramp up its network investments. According to analysts, Airtel has also managed to increase users in the more lucrative premium customer segments.

However, the wired broadband market—heavily underpenetrated and where JioFiber is trying to expand services into the less-served semi-urban and rural markets—saw the Mukesh Ambani-led firm add on the most subscribers at 2,45,912. This was followed by Bharti Airtel at 48,397, VIL with 9,400, and Quadrant with 5,198 customers. Overall wireline connections, however, fell to 19.99 million from 20.08 million in September. The biggest loser was consequently state-owned BSNL.

Tepid growth in Nov

India's pharma industry registered a tepid growth at 1% (YoY) in November led by fall in volumes even as prices and product launches remained steady. Profitability has improved in H1 FY21 owing to lesser overheads like marketing

Pharma revenues to remain healthy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

MARGINS and revenues of the pharmaceutical sector are expected to remain healthy in the next financial year ending March 2023 with minimal impact of Covid-19 coupled with continuous API/KSM (Key Starting Materials) supplies from China, according to a report by ICRA. The ratings agency also predicts stable credit flow for leading pharma players in view of future growth prospects in regulated markets and strong balance sheets.

Despite muted growth in Q1 FY21, the revenues in Q3, are expected to grow by 7-9 per cent and in the range of 8-11 per cent for FY21 hough lower incidences of acute diseases, lesser OPDs and elective surgeries may continue to have some bearing on growth and will depend upon the course of the pandemic. The API/KSM (Key Starting mAterials) supplies from China, which were initially hit due to the Covid-19, have resumed gradually since March 2020 and are nearing the normalcy levels. Approximately 60 per cent of the APIs/KSM consumed, is imported from China. Production disruptions owing to restrictions in mobility of manpower and materials eased after the first few weeks of the lockdown. At present, the production has reached 90-95% of the pre-Covid levels.

The trend is expected to reverse once the pandemic situation resolves and FY22 margins will remain in line with the pre-Covid level, it added.

India records M&A, PE deals worth $80 bn in 2020

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DESPITE the Covid-19 pandemic, values of private equity (PE) investments and merger & acquisitions (M&A) have witnessed an annual growth of seven per cent in 2020 to little over $80 billion as compared to $74.8 billion in the previous year. Strategic deals or M&A accounted for over 50 per cent of the total deal value, while PE activity kept pace with last year, recording investments worth $38.2 billion, according to a latest PwC report.

About 25 per cent of this deal value is attributed to inbound investments in Reliance Jio Platforms. Facebook invested around $ 5.7 billion in Jio Platforms for nearly a 10 per cent stake – possibly one of the largest deals to be completed during the lockdown. This was followed by a $ 4.5 billion investment from Google for a 7.7 per stake in Jio Platform. Reliance Retail Ventures' acquisition of Future Group for $3.3 billion was the largest domestic deal recorded in 2020.

In total, 2020 recorded 17 deals in the billion-dollar bracket, nearly double the number of such deals (nine) recorded in 2019. Sector wise, telecom replaced technology in the top position by attracting investments worth $11.2 billion. Retail was also a new entrant, attracting investments worth $ 6.5 billion.

The report added due to Covid-19 led disruption the investment community expects bad loans to spike again creating a very lucrative opportunity. "In the interest of recovery, it is very likely that good-quality assets will be made available at attractive valuations, driving funds and strategic players to pursue these distressed situations... it added.

Trippier hit with 10 week ban for betting breaches

England international Kieran Trippier has been banned for 10 weeks and fined £70,000 ($94,000) for breaching betting rules, the Football Association (FA) announced on Wednesday. The 30-year-old Atletico Madrid defender's worldwide ban from all football and football-related activity will run until February 28. Trippier's ban takes force with immediate effect.

Wind blowing against Rahul

Team management may not recall him as he hasn't played red ball cricket of late

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

DESPITE calls for the inclusion of KL Rahul, the right-hander is unlikely to make a comeback into the XI for the Boxing Day Test. On Wednesday, Team India had the first training session at the Melbourne Cricket Ground, three days after suffering that humiliating defeat in Adelaide. With the unprecedented collapse leaving them in crossroads, a couple of spots are under scrutiny leading up to the second Test.

WARNER, ABBOTT TO MISS SECOND TEST

MELBOURNE: Opener David Warner and pacer Sean Abbott were on Wednesday ruled out of the second Test against India, beginning on Saturday, because of a mix of injuries and Covid-19 protocols. The duo was outside the team's bio-secure hub to get treatment for their respective groin and calf injuries.

With Prithvi Shaw struggling at the top and Wriddhiman Saha having a forgettable outing, it looked like a few spots may open, over and above the two forced ones thanks to Virat Kohli's paternity leave and Mohammed Shami's injury. In that context, including Rahul would make the batting stronger but what's working against him is the lack of matches with the red ball. Since being dropped from the Test side, Rahul has played only one long format match and that was for Karnataka back in March, where he made scores of 26 & 0 against Bengal.

While his form in limited overs has been exceptional, the think-tank believes there is still work to be done when it comes to Tests. In that regard 21-year-old Shubman Gill is above him in the pecking order thanks his impressive outing against Australia A. However, in case Gill gets to make his debut in Melbourne, India are yet to take a call on where to play him. Despite looking out of sorts at Adelaide, Prithvi Shaw could still retain his spot in case India decide to go with just four bowlers, with Gill at No 4.

Thanks to the drop-in pitch, the MCG has offered slow tracks in recent times, which is why the visitors think playing five bowlers would be apt. If that's the case, Ravindra Jadeja could come in as a straight swap, with Hanuma Vihari at No 4. Gill then would take Shaw's place at the top.

These changes aside, there are still question marks surrounding the inclusion of Rishabh Pant. The left-hander has been India's preferred option in overseas Tests, but they went against it in Adelaide as Saha was chosen because of his experience of keeping with the pink ball. But he looked out of sorts with the bat. While the latter definitely offers something different as a left-hander, he has a ton in Australia, and also scored an unbeaten 103 in the practice match.

However, there are fitness concerns surrounding Pant. He was told to work on improving his fitness. As far as a replacement for Shami goes, Mohammed Siraj seems to be the front-runner.

Remove my name from Kotla stand: Bedi to DDCA

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

PEEVED with Delhi and District Cricket Association's (DDCA) decision to erect a statue of its late former president Arun Jaitley at the Feroz Shah Kotla ground, former India captain Bishan Singh Bedi in an explosive letter asked DDCA to remove his name from one of the stands. He also 'renounced' his DDCA membership.

The legendary left-arm spinner wrote an email to the current DDCA chief Rohan Jaitley, son of the former finance minister, and the mail (in possession with this daily) pointed out how he was not on the best of terms with Jaitley senior.

"I write this letter with a heavy heart & a deep sense of embarrassment. I'm old enough to know that one doesn't talk ill of the dead. And I hope you are also old enough to be in the know of my personal relationship with late Arun Jaitley was never quite on the same page. Let's say we weren't really cricketing buddies when he was the President of DDCA. My reservations about choice of people he handpicked to run day to day affairs of DDCA is well known," he wrote. The 74-year-old also pointed out how he was not thrilled when the stadium was renamed after the politician.

"After the Feroze Shah Kotla was named hurriedly & most undeservingly after late Arun Jaitley my reaction then was maybe somehow good sense might prevail to keep Kotla sacrosanct. How wrong I was. Now I gather a statue of late Arun Jaitley is going to be installed at the Kotla. I'm not at all enamoured with the thought of a statue of Arun Jaitley coming up at Kotla. I pride myself as a man of immense tolerance & patience ... but all that I'm afraid is running out. DDCA has truly tested me & forced me to take this drastic action. So, Mr President, I request you to remove my name from the stand named after me with immediate effect. Also, I hereby renounce my DDCA membership," the mail said.

"A mere google search would have helped to know that Late Arun Jaitley's tenure at DDCA was riddled with corruption. You being a lawyer should also know the cases of massive misappropriation of funds are still pending in courts."

"People who surround you presently will never inform you that it's WG Grace at Lord's... Sir Jack Hobbs at the Oval...Sir Donald Bradman at the SCG... Sir Garfield Sobers at Barbados & Shane Warne of recent vintage at the MCG...who adorn their cricket stadia with the Spirit of Cricket never out of place..so when kids walk into these stadiums these majestic statues/busts enhance & enliven the inspiring stories of these past heroes... Sporting arenas need sporting role models. The place of administrators is in their glass cabins."

Negative report, face shield likely for refs

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

STRICT Covid-19 guidelines will be in place when the Senior National Wrestling Championship begins with competitions in the men's freestyle category on January 23. All the participants will be required to submit Covid negative report on their arrival. The referees may sport face shields during the bouts as was seen during the Individual World Cup held recently in Belgrade, Serbia. The Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) is expected to come up with comprehensive sanitary protocols soon.

The two-day freestyle event will be held in Noida while the women's championship will be organised in Agra on January 30 and 31. The federation has yet not decided dates and venue for competition in Greco-Roman category, but it is expected to be held in Punjab in February.

"All the participants have to bring negative RT-PCR report issued no earlier than 36 hours before their arrival at the venue," Vinod Tomar, WFI's assistant secretary, told this newspaper.

The federation has also issued circular to its affiliated units inviting them to participate in the championship. In the circular, the WFI has specifically mentioned that each unit would be entitled to send ten wrestlers and two coaches in each style due to the pandemic. However, previous year champions in various styles are eligible to send two wrestlers per weight category.

The circular also emphasises on the need to maintain social distance during verification. "No wrestler except those whose weigh-in is next day will be allowed at the verification area. In case found, he/she will be disqualified from the competition," read the circular.

Speaking on the safety protocols, a WFI official said on condition of anonymity, "The guidelines are being framed. The world body (United World Wrestling) successfully organised World Cup in Serbia. We will certainly consider the UWW's protocols before finalising ours. These guidelines would be sent to all participating members to ensure safety to our athletes and other stakeholders."

The UWW had prepared sanitary protocols for participants. It also conducted research on all athletes by monitoring their body temperatures at different times and using different equipment.

The wrestlers were also made to sign an undertaking. Referees wore face shields during the bouts as a precautionary measure.

"We are taking opinions from experts. We will also have to abide by rules and regulations of the state government and district administration where the tournament is being organised," added the official.

Olympics to cost $15.9 bn

AFP @ Tokyo

THE coronavirus-delayed Tokyo Olympics will cost at least 1.64 trillion yen ($15.9 billion), organisers said Tuesday, unveiling a final budget swollen by the unprecedented postponement and a raft of pandemic measures. The extra costs — up 294 billion yen ($2.8 billion) from figures released a year ago — come as officials work to build enthusiasm for the first Games postponed in peacetime.

A poll last week showed that a majority of Japanese oppose holding the Tokyo Games next year, favouring a further delay or outright cancellation of the massive event, and the latest budget could make the Tokyo Games the most expensive Summer Olympics in history.

BCCI'S AGENDA DURING 89TH AGM

CAC to interview selectors

THE Cricket Advisory Committee (CAC) of the BCCI will interview candidates for the senior men's selection committee on Thursday with former pacer Ajit Agarkar emerging as a favourite to take over as chairman of the panel. The panel, consisting of Madan Lal, RP Singh and Sulakshana Naik, which appointed Sunil Joshi and Harvinder Singh in March, will conduct the interviews virtually before forwarding the names to the BCCI.

OTHER KEY ISSUES

EXPANDING TO 10 TEAMS
The inclusion of two new franchises in the 2022 edition of the IPL will be on top of BCCI's priority on Thursday.

TAX EXEMPTION: There's only a week left for the BCCI to meet the ICC's deadline of giving complete assurance that the global body will get full tax exemption for holding the World T20 next year or else it will be shifted to the UAE. While there has been precedence of exemptions during earlier global events, the current tax laws won't allow exemption for a sporting event.

BCCI REPRESENTATIVE IN ICC: Secretary Jay Shah will remain India's representative at the ICC like last year along with Ganguly.

CRICKET IN OLYMPICS: If Indian cricket board supports the sport at the 2028 Olympics, it might end up losing its autonomy as being a National Sports Federation means coming under the ambit of sports ministry. BCCI has always valued its independent status.

VARIOUS COMMITTEES: BCCI hasn't constituted important cricket sub-committees for the longest time. Those include cricket committee, standing committee, umpires committee.

ANGULO SINKS JAMSHEDPUR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

FC GOA frontman Igor Angulo underlined why he is more than capable of replacing ISL all-time top-scorer Ferran Corominas by scoring twice to help the Gaurs beat Jamshedpur FC 2-1 in Vasco on Wednesday. The victory also helped Goa break their two match losing run and get back to winning ways. As for Jamshedpur, it is their first loss after six unbeaten games.

Goa were trailing after Stephen Eze's goal in the first half but Angulo struck twice in the second half, including late in injury time, to steal three points as Juan Ferrando's men leapfrogged Jamshedpur into fifth place and go level on points with NorthEast United.

Angulo who arrived at the start of the season as a replacement for Coro now has eight goals from eight games in the campaign and leads the goalscoring charts.

In a game of two halves, Jamshedpur dominated the first while Goa came out all guns blazing in the second.

Over 50% of Chinese adults now overweight

Scant exercise, too much meat & calories are making world's largest population fat

HEALTH

BEIJING: More than half of adults in China are now overweight, official figures showed Wednesday, with increasingly sedentary lifestyles among the country's growing middle class translating to expanding waistlines.

China has experienced rapid economic growth in recent decades that has profoundly changed eating habits -- massively popular online delivery apps make cheap, calorie-rich meals available to city dwellers at all hours.

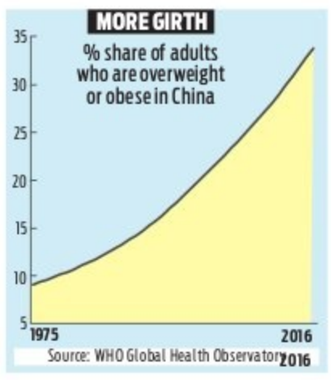
That growth now means that more than 50 percent of people are overweight for the first time, according to a National Health Commission report published Wednesday, out of which 16.4 percent are considered obese.

That proportion is nearly double the 29 percent of adults classified as overweight or obese in 2002.

Many adults in China now "exercise too little, are under too much pressure, and have an unhealthy work schedule," Wang Dan, a nutritionist in the northeastern city of Harbin, told AFP.

Chinese children are also increasingly overweight, the report revealed, with 20 percent of 6 to 17-year-olds now heavier than the healthy limit compared to 16% in 2012.

Being overweight is a major risk factor for cardiovascular disease, diabetes and cancer.



Source: WHO Global Health Observatory

The worst-affected country in Asia remains Malaysia, where around 65% are overweight or obese, according to the WHO in 2019.

Adult obesity is on the rise across the world, in both prosperous regions as well as areas where people are unable to afford healthy diets of fruits, vegetables and protein-rich foods.

"High prevalence and wide coverage is the main characteristic of the current obesity situation of Chinese people," Zhao Wenhua, chief nutritionist at the Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention, was quoted as saying by Global Times at a press conference for the launch of the report.

Around one-fifth of Chinese primary and middle school students drink sugary beverages often, according to the 2020 Nutrition and Chronic Disease Status Report of Chinese Residents report.

Neptune throws up new puzzle

It's one of the weirdest planets scientists have ever found. Its weather is a phenomena that is still confusing: Winds on the planet race at 1.5 times the speed of sound. But now Neptune's humongous dark storms are behaving in a way that defies all that we know about the planet

UNRULY STORMS

Neptune's storms are not your average Earth hurricane. They have deep roots that reach into the planet's core, and this makes the storms susceptible to be moved about across the giant blue planet

And when they move south towards Neptune's equator, the storms disintegrate. As if it's a law of nature on Neptune, the storms take a direct path to the equatorial "kill zone"

Only this time around, these two storms — the large one spotted first in 2018 and the smaller one in Jan this year — didn't disappear. In fact, they reversed direction and are moving north

LARGE STORM

7,403 KM across

is its size, wider than the Atlantic Ocean on Earth

2-5 YEARS

is the average lifespan of a Neptune storm, as per estimates. These storms are high-pressure ones that rotate clockwise, in sync with the planet's rotation. In contrast, storms on Earth are low-pressure systems that rotate counterclockwise. Astronomers get to use the Hubble only one time a year to look at Neptune, making tracking of the planet's atmosphere difficult

8th and outermost planet from the Sun

HUBBLE TELESCOPE

Since 1989, only Hubble has had the ablility and "sensitivity in visible light" to track these storms that appear as dark spots. They have sequentially appeared and then faded away over the years

> It was really exciting to see this [storm] act like it's supposed to act and then all of a sudden it just stops and swings back. That was surprising... This is a process that's never been observed

VOYAGER 2

Two other dark storms were discovered by the Voyager 2 in 1989 as it flew by the planet — the only human-built spacecraft to ever cross Neptune. The first dark storm was "huge, a big monster [as big as planet Earth]," astronomer Heidi Hammel told The New York Times. But the two storms had disappeared before Hubble Telescope could observe them

Islamic councils say vaccine shots are permissible

MEDICINE

DUBAI: The United Arab Emirates' highest Islamic authority, the UAE Fatwa Council, has ruled that coronavirus vaccines are permissible for Muslims even if they contain pork gelatin.

The ruling follows growing alarm that the use of pork gelatin, a common vaccine ingredient, may hamper vaccination among Muslims who consider the consumption of pork products "haram," or forbidden under Islamic law.

If there are no alternatives, Council Chairman Sheikh Abdallah bin Bayyah said that the coronavirus vaccines would not be subject to Islam's restrictions on pork because of the higher need to "protect the human body."

The council added that in this case, the pork gelatin is considered medicine, not food, with multiple vaccines already shown to be effective against a highly contagious virus that "poses a risk to the entire society.

Separately, Malaysia's religious authorities said that a Covid-19 is allowed under Islamic rules and is actually mandated for some groups, Bloomberg reported on Wednesday.

Religious Affairs Minister Zulkifli Mohamad Al-Bakri said this view has been conveyed to the Council of Rulers in Malaysia. "As such, I urge all Malaysians, especially Muslims, to abide by and give full trust to the government to manage the Covid-19 pandemic through the use of vaccines," Zulkifli said.

FACT OF THE MATTER

100 mn vax doses for US

MEDICINE

The US has purchased an additional 100 million doses of the Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine against Covid-19, with the shots set to be delivered by July, the Pentagon said. That brings the current US supply of Covid-19 vaccine to 400 million doses -- half from Pfizer and half from Moderna -- allowing it to immunize 200 million people under the two-shot regimens. "Under the terms of the agreement, Pfizer will deliver at least 70 million doses by June 30, 2021, with the balance of the 100 million doses to be delivered.

Meat intake tied to asthma

HEALTH

Dietary habits established earlier in life may be linked to potentially the future development of asthma as a new research has found that substances present in cooked meats are associated with increased wheezing in children. Their study in Thorax highlights pro-inflammatory compounds called advanced glycation end-products (AGEs) as an example of early dietary risk factors that may have broad clinical and public health implications for the prevention of inflammatory airway disease.

Can a beetle be an Xmas snack?

WILDLIFE

Earnmore Chikavaza takes a mouthful of fried beetles and munches happily, downing the crunchy snack with a mouthful of water. He runs out of superlatives to sum up the benefits of a food that is healthy, tasty, organic and -- a special advantage in a poor country – absolutely free. The delicacy is the chafer beetle, also called the Christmas beetle, a dark-red Zimbabwean bug which proliferates in the southern hemisphere country at this time of year.

Illegal animal trade thriving online: Study

WILDLIFE

LONDON: Illegal wildlife trade on social media networks is thriving, with wild animals sometimes sold as "lockdown pets", despite Covid-19 restrictions and the risk of animal to human disease transmission, says a study of advertisements on Facebook.

The research in Environmental Research showed despite the known risk of animal to human transmission of disease, there is no evidence that the online wildlife trade was discouraged or has decreased amid the pandemic.

Examining advertisements on Facebook in Brazil and Indonesia, the researchers found thousands of posts advertising wild animals, with a potential audience of 2 lakh people. Indeed, only 0.44% of over 20,000 online wildlife trade advertisements had any Covid-19-related content.

With Covid-19, the role of wild animals in emerging infectious diseases (EID) is in the spotlight.

US population expands at smallest rate in 120 years

DEMOGRAPHY

WASHINGTON: The US population grew by the smallest rate in at least 120 years from 2019 to 2020, according to figures released by the US Census Bureau — a trend that demographers say provides a glimpse of the coronavirus pandemic's toll.

Population growth in the US already was stagnant over the past several years due to immigration restrictions and a dip in fertility, but coronavirus-related deaths exacerbated that lethargic-growth trend, said William Frey, a senior fellow at The Brooking Institution's Metropolitan Policy Program.

"I think it's a first glimpse of where we may be heading as far as low population growth," Frey said. "It's telling you that this is having an impact on population."

The US population grew by 0.35% from July 2019 to July 2020, an increase of 1.1 million people in a nation whose estimated population in July.

CROC ON STEROIDS

Massive 'swamp king' ruled Aus' prehistoric waterways

PALEONTOLOGY

SYDNEY: A prehistoric crocodile measuring more than five metres long, dubbed the "swamp king", ruled south eastern Queensland waterways in Australia only a few million years ago.

Researchers at University of Queensland identified the new species of prehistoric crocodile -- which they named Paludirex vincenti -- from fossils first unearthed in the 1980s.

"Its fossilised skull measures around 65 centimetres, so we estimate Paludirex vincenti was at least five metres long," said Jorgo Ristevski from University of Queensland's School of Biological Sciences.

Comparing the sizes of a Paludirex vincenti and a 1.8 m tall human | JORGO RISTEVSKI

"The largest crocodylian today is the Indo-Pacific crocodile, Crocodylus porosus, which grows to about the same size.

"But Paludirex had a broader, more heavy-set skull so it would've resembled an Indo-Pacific crocodile on steroids."

Paludirex was one of the top predators in Australia a few million years ago, capable of preying on giant prehistoric marsupials.

"Crocs have been an important component of Australia's fauna for millions of years," Salisbury said.

"But the two species we have today -- Crocodylus porosus and Crocodylus johnstoni -- are only recent arrivals, and were not part of the endemic croc fauna that existed here from about 55 million years ago."

THE imposement of the night curfew, between 10 pm and 6am till January 2 amid fear of the new strain of coronavirus, has come as a dampener to many. Ahead of Christmas, many were planning to head to churches, however, places of worship themselves are changing plans. St. Mark's Cathedral, which had planned to conduct midnight mass on Dec. 24 at 11.30 pm, is now planning to hold it between 7pm and 8pm on the same day. On the other hand, All Saints Church has cancelled the mass this year. "We will have the service at 6:30am and 8:30am on Dec 25," says Ronald Fernandez, one of the standing members of the church.

Staying on the side of caution, Wesley English Church called off their night service programme two weeks ago. "We took this step in light of how the Covid scenario has been playing out and based on the directive of our bishop," says the church's secretary Bindu Paul. On Christmas morning, the church will have a service at 9am, wherein the premises can accommodate 120 people with social distancing. The service will also be telecast online.

Infant Jesus Church in Viveknagar which had planned Christmas eve service at 6pm on Dec. 24 and Christmas service at 7am on Dec. 25 will go ahead with their plans. St Andrew's Church too has kept the eve service at 6pm.

A still from the film

There is more than one reason why Darshan fans are awaiting the release of the most anticipated movie, Roberrt. Even though the release date of the film is yet to be finalised, it has been making the right noises through its pre-release buzz. Adding to the excitement of fans, the team is dropping a list of merchandise and collectibles on December 25.

The collectibles will have a wide variety of options like masks, t-shirts, hoodies, key chains, posters, and coffee mugs. "To keep the excitement high, we are dropping other products too," says Tharun Kishore Sudhir, director of the movie.

Going with the need of the hour, the team decided to go ahead with the release of the mask first. "Although we are excited to see movie buffs in theatres, we are equally concerned about their safety. Darshan sir has always been well connected with his fans and he would never want to take a chance when it comes to their well-being," explains Sudhir, adding that this is also an attempt to spread social awareness on the importance of keeping safe.

Although we are excited to see movie buffs in theatres, we are equally concerned about their safety. Darshan sir has always been well connected with his fans and he would never want to take a chance when it comes to their well-being

Tharun Kishore Sudhir, director, Roberrt

Hoping that fans will wear the masks at theatres, the masks are designed for maximum protection. "They are going to be six layered and are named D-Mask. Each pack comes with a set of three so as to give options. They are made as per government guidelines using spun bond fabric, and includes an adjustable nose strap, which makes breathing comfortable. These masks are reusable and easy to handle," says Rahuh Raj, co-founder of the Tag my Tee, who is taking care of the merchandise.

57% Indians planning vacation for 2021: Survey

EXPRESS FEATURES

The year 2020 might have played spoiltsport to travel plans for many, but that isn't stopping people from making plans for 2021.

ZestMoney, an AI-driven EMI financing and 'Buy Now Pay Later' platform, released the findings from a survey conducted to understand how Indians are shaping up their travel plans for the coming year. The survey was conducted with a sample of 4,600 respondents across metros and Tier II/III cities in India.

The survey reveals that while over 75 per cent respondents did not take a vacation in the last three months, over 57 per cent are planning their next leisure travel in early 2021. An increasing number of people want to opt for domestic travel. Within India, Goa (53.1%), followed by Kerala (32.9%) and Shimla (31.4%) ranked high on the travel bucket-list. Ladakh, Kashmir, Jaipur, Agra and Mysuru were the other popular destinations.

With the pandemic taking a hit on finances, travellers have slashed their discretionary spends, including those on leisure activities. Over 44 per cent believed that their holiday and travel budgets have been impacted. Commenting on the trend, Lizzie Chapman, CEO & co-founder at ZestMoney said, "The pandemic had halted leisure travel for many travel enthusiasts over the past year as they restrained their discretionary spends and focussed on savings. With the phased reopening across cities, consumers are gradually planning their vacations for the coming year. We have seen a gradual uptick for the category with staycations, tour packages and domestic air travel driving the demand. We are witnessing a 50% month-on-month growth in customers opting for the Pay Later solution for the travel vertical on the platform," added Chapman.

FIT BIT

MOORCHHA PRANAYAMA

(SWOONING BREATH)

In Sanskrit, Moorchha means 'fainting' or 'swooning breath'. It is a yogic breathing technique, designed to enhance mental energy and provide a subtle sense of euphoria. Pranayama is a practice in which conscious awareness and control of the breath helps to maintain a healthy flow of prana (vital life force) in the body. The name stems from a feeling of dizziness created by the practice; when the practitioner becomes lightheaded, they are said to become devoid of all senses. It should not be attempted until more simple forms of pranayama have been mastered. In addition, it should not be practised by those who are pregnant.

STEPS

- First, sit in any easy meditation posture, such as Sukhasana or Padmasana.
- Relax the body, rest the hands on the knees and soften the shoulders.
- Then, sit upright and align the head with the spine.
- Now engage Khecari Mudra (roll the tongue to the soft palate or nasal cavity).
- Tilt the head back slightly and begin to slowly inhale through both nostrils, using Ujayii breath.
- Now acquire Shambhavi Mudra (bring the gaze to the centre of the eyebrows).
- Straighten the arms, lock the elbows and press the palms into the knees.
- At the top of the inhale, retain the breath and engage Jalandhar Bandha (chin lock).
- When you feel extreme dizziness, begin to slowly exhale the breath.
- Now return to a relaxed body position with the eyes closed, take a moment to pause and appreciate the tranquility created by the practice.

BENEFITS

- Helps to achieve inner bliss and remain happy for prolonged periods of time.
- Effective form of pranayama for removing lustful feelings.
- Body fats can be removed through this pranayama.
- It cures weakness of muscles and headaches.
- Provides a practitioner with a strong yet subtle feeling of euphoria.
- Helps in enhancing the overall mental energy of a practitioner.
- The mind of a person is cleansed completely and the practitioner can experience strong feelings of nonexistence and extreme joy along with a sense of floating and the boundaries of the body disappearing.
- Makes it possible for thought patterns in the mind to cease which in turn gives rise to a sensation of complete nonexistence.
- Reduces mental tension, stress and insomnia.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from heart diseases, unrestrained hypertension or high blood pressure, brain aneurysms and mental disorders, avoid this.

CE FEATURS

KS Ashoka, the maker of 6-5=2, who later made heads turn with Dia, is now giving a Bollywood touch to his second film. The filmmaker is currently in Mumbai, where he is working along with the creative team on the Hindi remake of the Kannada film. The director is looking after the pre-production work, along with director Sachin, who will be helming the Hindi remake.

The Kannada film was written and directed by K S Ashoka, and produced by Krishna Chaitanya under the banner of Sri Swarnalatha Productions. The film's music was composed by B Ajaneesh Loknath, and it received a good response from the audience when it was released on Feb. 7 earlier this year, putting actors Pruthvi Ambaar and Kushee Ravi in the spotlight. The popularity of the film, which also featured Deekshith Shetty, grew further when it was later released on OTT, and it got a favourable response from both Kannadiga and non-Kannadiga viewers. This was one of the first films that saw a re-release post lockdown, with the team adding a theme track.

For its Bollywood journey, the production house is looking to cast fresh faces. The makers plan to begin the shooting in January, for which they have finalised locations in Lucknow, Dehradun and Mussoorie.

Meanwhile, shooting for the Telugu remake is on. It is being directed by Sushanth, and stars Megha Akash of Enai Noki Paayum Thota fame in the titular role. Pavithra Lokesh will be reprising the mother's role, which she had played in the original too.

The remake rights for Dia have been sold to Tamil and Malayalam moviemakers as well, and work is expected begin soon in these two versions also.

DOGGED IDEALISM IN A CLASSROOM

ADITYA SHRIKRISHNA

BIWEEKLY BINGE | ITAEWON CLASS
STREAMING ON: NETFLIX

ONE of the often-referenced scenes from The Wire is the one where Wallace, Poot and D'Angelo are talking about Chicken McNuggets. Wallace and Poot are wondering about the ocean of wealth the inventor is probably swimming in thanks to the dish. D'Angelo will have none of it. He lays it down straight; Ronald McDonald is not writing checks to that cook, who probably still cuts a sorry figure earning regular wage. This moment plays out for real in the Korean drama Itaewon Class, streaming on Netflix. Almost offhand, Park Sae-ro-yi (Park Seo-joon) learns that his rival food company Jangga was rescued and reinforced by a sauce invented by his father, who not only never got his due but was forced to resign from his position thanks to the nascent idealism of Sae-ro-yi. His father's subsequent death is what motivates him to bring the Jangga empire down.

Itaewon Class concluded before the seriousness of the Covid pandemic kicked in at the end of March. The pandemic has, more than anything else in recent times, shown the after-effects of neoliberalism. There was a vast void between those who could survive brutal lockdowns and those who couldn't. The abuse and lack of power leads to some violent ends in Itaewon Class. At the heart of it, or at least till about halfway in, the focus is on the have-nots and marginalised.

Sae-ro-yi and his business partner Seung-kwon are ex-cons, and it is Sae-ro-yi's refusal to accept his fate as a lifelong member of that class that inspires Seung-kwon to join forces with his prison mate. DanBam, the modest pub that Sae-ro-yi starts has a trans woman as a head chef — Hyeon-yi (played by actress Lee Joo-young). Sae-ro-yi's character is written all through as a dogged idealist and optimist. His rival's motto that the strong preys on the weak is constantly running in his mind, that his idea of existence, sustenance and success is defined by levelling the playing field for all. Early in the series, his childhood friend, first love and employee of Jangga, Soo-ah asks him, with the aftertaste of sarcasm, does it feel good to perform a good deed and feel nice about oneself. Soo-ah is sometimes defined by the cynicism of her orphanage nurturing, living off philanthropic altruism of empires, but Sae-ro-yi's idealism is shaped by loss and experience, something he was forced to learn.

The gentrified Itaewon setting helps flesh out this melting pot. A part of Seoul that's home to expats, foreigners and international businesses, it is perfect for Sae-ro-yi to establish an institution that's truly liberal and democratic, his values going against, say, Gangnam, for instance.

The series has its weaknesses: there is a forcefulness in making the Sae-ro-yi and Yi-seo — the company's young manager — romance work and her character, beliefs and ideals are always at odds with DanBam's mission statement. Itaewon also helps the drama tackle multiple subjects without reducing them to stereotypes. Hyeon-yi is more than her gender, she is the star chef and rises to be one of the founding directors of the company and has her own arc. A hilarious encounter ensues when Kim Toni meets the group and they hire him as a waiter assuming he can speak English owing to the colour of his skin. Biracial, he is from Guinea with a Korean father and speaks fluent French and Korean. The show not only places focus on those who need representation but also pushes its own main characters to learn on the job and become better individuals. One of the interesting running gags is the dynamic between Seung-kwon and Hyeon-yi, the former uncomfortable and still coming to terms with the latter's gender after years of personal and professional relationship.
